CATHOLIC PRELATE SHOT BY SOVIET; WORLD PROTESTS

Moscow, April 3.—Vicar-General Butchkavitch has been executed. The Pravda says the execution occurred on March 31. The newspaper Izvestia asserts: "The sentence of death on Butchkavitch, whose reprieve was refused, has been carried out." The time and place are not given.

Monsignor Butchkavitch met death before a firing squad.

Even up to late night there were rumors that an exchange might be arranged. Responsible officials, however, branded the rumors as false and asserted that Soviet justice must take its course regardless of protests and attacks abroad.

The details of the prelate's execution probably will never be known. Judging from what has happened in previous cases it is thought probable that after the executive committee had refused to reprieve him he was removed from the prison in which his colleagues were confined to the prison for the condemned and that there, after the death sentence had been read to him, he was executed.

This is the general procedure in the swift and quiet carrying out of the death penalty in Russia.

In the Pravda the execution is noted briefly without comment in a column of local news.

Constantine Butchkavitch, Vicar-General of the Catholic Church in Russia, was sentenced to death by the Moscow court, March 26, after he and sixteen other prelates, includ-

MINERS AND WIVES FINED FOR PICKETING

Somerset, Pa., April 3.—Eleven union miners, on strike for a year, their wives and a boy were fined today by Judge John A. Berkey for violating an injunction against picketing against the Consolidated Coal Company on April 18, 1922. The men were fined from $10 to $25 each. They will be held in jail until the fines are paid. Mrs. Mary Flota was fined $100, payable within sixty days. Fines of the other women and the boy were suspended.

YEAR'S WARMEST DAY, BUT COLD IS COMING

This was the warmest day of the year. The temperature climbed to 63 at 3 p. m. However, this is no time to take off the Winter undies for the mercury will slump tomorrow. Rain is promised for this evening and morning.

PITTENGER IS MADE REGULAR AT THIRD

By CHARLES E. PARKER.

Little Rock, Ark., April 3.—Clarke Pittenger, until today a member of the Yannigan infield, was introduced as regular third baseman for the Boston Red Sox when they took the field against the Little Rock "Pebbles" in the opening game of the Sox's Barnstorming series.

Until today Joe Harris has been anchored at third, Manager Chance hoping that his fielding would improve sufficiently to enable him to hold the hot corner and give the dope the benefit of his fine batting eye and ability to clout the apple.

The short trip from Hot Springs to Little Rock was made without incident this morning, but a heavy rainfall throughout the night threatened cancellation of the Little Rock contest.

The sun came forth an hour before noon and the game was officially on, with Ehmke and Devormer as the Sox battery and McBridge and Sarrell pitching and catching for the Pebbles.

NEE WEIGHS 118; FORD IN AT 116½

TURKS BLOCK U. S. AID TO REFUGEES

Constantinople, April 3 (By the Associated Press.)—The Turkish customs authorities today refused to permit the Near East Relief to continue distribution of foodstuffs to the 25,000 destitute and hungry refugees in Constantinople unless the American organization paid the new consumption tax, which is four times as great as the import duty, it was announced by Near East representatives.

CHARGE $30,000 WAS USED FOR PLEASURE

Charging that Michael W. Quinlan, Jr., of Brookline, used fraud methods in getting his aged father Michael W. Quinlan, who died two years ago to sign his business over to him, Arthur P. Beal and William J. Good of Boston, administrators of the Quinlan estate, today filed a suit in Dedham Civil Court, to recover $30,000 from Quinlan, Jr., and petitioned the court to force young Quinlan, to give an accounting of all moneys supposed to be in the elder Quinlan's name.

The petition charges that young Quinlan took $30,000 that the elder Quinlan had deposited in various banks and used it for his own pleasure.

BOOZE ON MAYOR'S DOORSTEP

Quinn Found It There When He Looked for Milk. He Testifies

Mayor Edward W. Quinn of Cambridge opened the back door a crack, slid his hand out for the morning's milk and drew in a bottle. Horrors! the bottle was flat. He looked and found a pint of "liquor."

This was the substance of the mayor's testimony today, in the trial of Hyman Peitch of No. 167 Willow street, which has threatened to split the police department. He denied finding such bottles regularly on his doorstep.

Besides the mayor, Chief of Police McBride, Captains Keanney, Leahy and Canney, several sergeants and Chaplain Gorowitz of State's Prison were called as witnesses. Peitch is charged with keeping and exposing liquor for sale.

John Burke of No. 125 Willow street testified he called while the police were there after raiding Peitch's place and was offered a pint.

Peitch alleges some officers were out to get him because of trouble when he ran a junk shop. Captain Keanney testified he reprimanded Patrolman Thomas Stokes when the latter went beyond his authority in ordering Peitch to clean up his place.

Sergeant Donahue testified he told Peitch:

"You've been a good friend of the police, but you've got to stop selling liquor. There are some live wires on the liquor squad and they will get you."

He also admitted he knew Peitch held liquor but let it go on. He had no orders from "higher up" to let Peitch sell, he testified.

MOVE TO CLOSE 6 N. Y. CABARETS

New York, April 3.—The government today brought injunction suits against five of the twenty-one cabarets which local prohibition agents recently announced they intended to padlock for alleged continued violation of the Volstead act. Defendants in the latest step to make Broadway as dry as the Sahara were: Club Royale, Murray's Roman Gardens, Gypsyland, Three Kinds and the Ringside, run by two brothers of Benny Leonard.

$70,000,000 GAIN IN INCOME TAX

Washington, April 3. (By International News Service.)—Income and profits taxes paid to the government in March as the first installment due on earnings of last year amounted to $463,091,397, it was announced at the Treasury Department today.

This was an increase of $70,000,000 over the total paid in by taxpayers in the same quarter of last year.

JOYCE SUCCESSOR GETS LIGHT VOTE

An exceptionally light vote was cast today in the special primaries in Ward 12, formerly old Ward 17, the Curley stronghold, to decide the successor to Representative Thomas M. Joyce, who died recently. For the first time hereabouts the polls will be open until six o'clock at night. There are five candidates, Patrick J. Sullivan is expected to win for he has the indorsement of the Curley forces. The others are Edward J. Magoon, Phillip F. McMahon, George W. Neville and John J. Queeney.

OPERATION ON SELF KILLS TOLEDO MAN

Toledo, O., April 3 (By International News Service).—Crazed with pain, Andrew Mikula, fifty-nine, tried to operate on himself with a butcher knife and died of loss of blood shortly afterwards here today. "The pain was too great, Mary, so I operated on myself," Mikula told his

COAKLEY SEEKS JURY TRIAL IN BERMAN CASE

Daniel H. Coakley today argued before Judge Crosby in Supreme Court for a trial by jury of Myer Berman's suit against him for $50,000. Berman alleges this sum was extorted from him through a conspiracy between former District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier, William J. Corcoran and Coakley.

Coakley and William H. Garland, Berman's counsel, clashed when Garland suggested that Coakley had a "better chance" in the Supreme Court. Coakley requested a trial in Superior Court.

"I want a chance to win, not a better chance," Coakley retorted. "I want a court not embarrassed by a decision in a case in which I had no chance to testify.

"The Supreme Court in the Pelletier proceedings practically said that Mr. Pelletier and Mr. Coakley are guilty. Every member of the Supreme Court must have preconceived views. It is utterly impossible to get a fair and impartial trial as the bill of rights guarantees me."

Coakley asserted that ulterior motives prompted the bringing of the suit in the Supreme Court. He asked for a jury in the Supreme Court if the case is not transferred to the Superior.

Since his first request for transfer was refused, Coakley argued, the Legislature had passed an act giving the court authority to transfer cases like the one at issue.

"The court ought to conduct this case so as to convince the public that justice is being done to me," Coakley said.

BANDIT'S LOCK OF HAIR WAS HIS OWN

Worcester, April 3.—Webster U. Grant, Uxbridge bandit killed in Westboro last Saturday following an attempt to rob the Southboro drug store, will be buried in the Grant family plot at Westboro after the inquest next Friday.

With him will be buried the lock of hair found in his possession when the bullets of State constables brought him down after a running fight.

And there will be buried also the hope of a mother represented by that lock of hair. There were many theories concerning the few golden strands. Some said it was the hair of a woman that Grant loved. Others said it was the hair of a child who had exercised a softening influence in his life.

But neither theory was correct. The hair was his own, clipped from his head by his mother when he was a baby.

"I cut this lock from your head," she told her son, "to keep in my heart a memory of you as you were when you were a child. I have a feeling that as long as I keep this lock of hair, you will continue to be as innocent and as good as you were then."

Last Fall Grant, who had strayed from his home, paid a visit to his mother. He took the lock of hair away from her. She parted with it reluctantly.

This is the story told by James Grant, father of the dead bandit.

"She didn't want to give up that lock of hair," he said. "She was superstitious about it. She felt that as long as she had it no harm could come to her boy. That's why the lock of hair will be buried with Webster."

CATHOLIC PRIEST EXECUTED BEFORE SOVIET FIRING SQUAD

The Russian Central Executive Committee, meeting last Thursday night to consider appeals in behalf of the ecclesiastics, denied clemency in the case of Mops. Butchkavitch, asserting that he had "used his position as a priest to carry on a direct and active state treason." The committee commuted to ten years imprisonment the death sentence imposed on the archbishop.

News that Mons. Butchkavitch would have to pay the extreme penalty created a stir in many lands. Soviet officials, however, since last Friday had professed ignorance as to what the final outcome of the case would be, and on the afternoon of March 31, Commissar of Justice Kurski told correspondents that the death sentence had not yet been carried out.

The note categorically denied that representatives of the Russian government told the Polish representative in Moscow, or anybody else, that the trial had only a formal significance and would have no serious consequences. The Russian government declines to enter into a discussion of unpermissible and unfounded accusations advanced against the Russian court and the Russian authorities, and declares that responsibility for the consequences emanating from such an act unprecedented in international affair falls solely on the Polish government.

CALLED UNFRIENDLY ACT.

The note says:

"The Russian government notes the evident contradiction between the peaceful utterance of the Polish government and the statements of the premier regarding Archbishop Zepliak.

"In view of the fact that every state has the undeniable right to punish criminals according to the laws of its own territory, the attempt to intervene in this right and prevent the execution of a legal sentence passed upon a Russian citizen proved guilty of a crime against the people and the state, an attempt accompanied by threats and unheard-of insults directed against the Russian government, is undoubtedly an unfriendly act and manifests an aggressive policy towards Russia."

Execution of Priest "Outrage," Says Mgr. Supple

"The execution of Vicar-General Butchkavitch is an outrage against justice and humanity and only serves to emphasize the impossible situation in Russia today.

"It is neither justice, liberty nor brotherhood, but a rank and stark materialism in the ascendancy, which ignores the common decency and finer sentiments of the human race."

—Right Rev. Mgr. Patrick J. Supple of St. John's Parish.

Defied U. S. and Pope in Killing Priest

The execution of Vicar-General Butchkavitch took place in defiance of a plea from the Pope and various governments.

The American State Department was among those who undertook to inform the Soviet government through Ambassador Houghton at Berlin of its earnest hope that the execution might not take place. The American request was completely ignored on the ground that the United States government has not recognized the Soviet government. Pleas from other nations alike met deaf ears.

While there is a political angle to the execution of Vicar-General Butchkavitch, it is in line with the expressed aim of the Soviet to oust all religions from Russia.

MANY CONVICTED.

Mgr. Butchkavitch, together with Archbishop Zepliak and fifteen Roman Catholic priests, were found guilty by the Moscow court some ten days ago of opposing the Soviet government. The sentence of death was imposed on the archbishop and the vicar-general. The others were sentenced to prison terms. The specific charges against the priests were:

First, opposing the decrees separating the church and the State.

Second, opposing the sequestration of church treasures.

Third, engaging in a campaign of agitation among the Catholic clergy and parishioners with the object of closing the churches in order to impair the terms of the treaty with Poland. The Soviet press emphasized that the trial was not against the church, but for the purpose of demonstrating that the clergy must obey the laws of Russia.

At the last moment the death sentence against Archbishop Zepliak was commuted to ten years' imprisonment under strictest isolation. This was in consideration of a plea for clemency. A similar plea, made by Catholic citizens of the Soviet republic, in behalf of the vicar-general was denied.

Religion and Communism are declared incompatible by the Pravda, mouthpiece of the Soviet government. The stand of the government is set forth as follows by the editor of Pravda, M. Bukharin:

"The childish notion of God and supernatural powers finds no confirmation in practical life and in the struggle between man and nature. Any person calling himself a Communist who continues to cling to religious tenets causes thereby to be a Communist."

While the Soviet government declares itself tolerant of any religion, it also declares itself tolerant of lack of religion.

Chiefly concerned in the move to abolish religion is the League of Communist Youth, which Bukharen, Lenin and Trotsky term "The Hope of the World." The members are largely university and upper school students. Their first anti-religious demonstration occurred shortly after last Christmas.

Girls in the Well
Glove Shoes—"Tut" Hats
Losing Doesn't Pay
Death, Dreams, Religion

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1923, Star Co.

IN YUCATAN is found a city of the Mayas, fourteen hundred years old. Ancient remains include a well 180 feet in diameter, 70 feet deep, into which beautiful girls were thrown alive to please the rain gods in time of drought.

THERE WERE sacrifices also for the great God Kukulcan, the feathered serpent. Had you fourteen hundred years ago told the priests hurling young girls into the well, "This can't last, this will not go on forever," they would have laughed at you or, more probably, would have thrown you in after the beautiful ladies.

IF YOU stand before the high priests of finance today and tell them that the present system can't last, with the majority worried and poor, you are not thrown into a well, but you are apt to be thrown into a convenient jail "for seeking to upset the government."

WHEN WE uncover ancient cities, find the sacrificial stone where the living victim was ripped open, that his beating heart might be offered to the gods in sacrifice, we tell ourselves that WE are highly civilized.

But what does the news tell us? At the races in Paris they are wearing "glove shoes"—made to pull on like gloves, and Tut-Ankh-Amen hats. And their minds are on that.

In New York a girl dances 27 hours without stopping, wearing out six partners and eclipsing the record of the strongest French male dancer. We admire that.

THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT, sending abroad the magnificent steamsalp Leviathan, owned by the people, engages a hippodrome director to produce theatrical performances, changed every trip, in which young girls will dance and sing.

The hope is that passengers on the American boat will accept the dancing young ladies in place of an active barroom. They won't.

MR. CANFIELD, the new prohibition man in New York, says he will look after the "rum fleet" with a flock of flying machines. This will make it uncomfortable for the so-called "bootleg pirate" that works between the shore and the fleet.

That ought to solve that problem unless the bootleg pirate can operate submarines.

BULGARIA SENTENCES to life imprisonment six of the government heads held responsible for dragging Bulgaria into the war.

If Germans, Bulgarians, Turks and Austrians had won that war those six men would now be living in palaces and later would have monuments put up for them. It doesn't pay to lose.

THE "SONIC depth finder" has enabled the United States Hydrographic Office to make an accurate map of the "floor" of the Pacific Ocean. That's a gleam of civilized news in pleasing contrast to murders, holdups, sugar swindles, etc.

THE REVEREND John Haynes Holmes' Easter sermon surprised his congregation. "I don't know," said he, "which is worse, the myth of heaven or the myth of hell."

If both are myths, what becomes of old-fashioned religion?

THE REVEREND gentleman also said, "Funerals are relics of barbarism." He denounced fear of death, saying, "We don't know anything about death, or what, if anything, there is in the life after death." That's all very puzzling.

HE WAS MISTAKEN. He said, "religious beliefs are largely responsible for the terror and fear of death." It is just the other way around, according to scientists. In terror, fear of death, strange dreams at night, the early religions of barbarians got their start.

50,000 STRIKE AT KRUPP'S FOR 24 HOURS

Dusseldorf, April 3 (International News Service).—Dr. Zeichlin, press representative of the German Foreign Office, was arrested today while granting an interview to reporters.

Essen, April 3 (By International News Service).—Fifty thousand employes of the Krupp works went on a 24-hour strike today in protest against the arrest of four directors, following the French attack against Krupp workers on Saturday which resulted in deaths.

Public funeral services will be held on Thursday for the Germans. Private ceremonies will be conducted tomorrow.

The four Krupp directors arrested yesterday are being held in Werden prison charged with responsibility for the shooting. French officers allege that the directors incited the German workers to threaten the French and that the latter fired when they feared they were about to be attacked by overwhelming numbers.

French doctors demanded an opportunity to examine the dead. Later it was claimed that ten were shot in the back.

Walls of buildings opposite the motor lorry garage at Krupp's, where the affray occurred, were found to be riddled with bullets.

Germans, who Investigated, declared that practically all the bullets fired from the garage were from a machine gun.

Herr Von Bohler, husband of Bertha Krupp, chief owner of Krupp's, angrily denied today that he was going to leave Essen.

TURK ASSASSIN DIES IN BATTLE

Constantinople, April 3 (By the Associated Press).—The notorious irregular leader Osman Agha, and twelve of his followers have been killed while resisting arrest for the murder of Ali Chukri Bey, Nationalist deputy, whose body was recently found buried near Osman's home.

A battalion of Nationalist soldiers surrounded the house which Agha had taken refuge and hot machine gun and rifle fire was opened on the place. The besieged party held out for twenty minutes. In addition to the thirteen irregulars killed, five of Agha's men were wounded and one soldier was killed.

The authorities now declare that the slaying of Chukri Bey, at first thought to have arisen from a political feud, was in reality a crime of private revenge.

MAIL BANDITS GOT $51,250 IN BONDS

INJURED.

Mrs. Mary Roiz of Massachusetts, arms and feet burned.

Joseph Parent of Grand Falls, N. B., guest, neck and head burned.

The fire caught from a stove in the hall on the ground floor, thus cutting off escape by the stairway and hall for the fifteen people in the house. Some of the guests and servants were taken out of the windows and down ladders by those first to respond to the alarm, while others jumped to the ground, banks of snow breaking their fall and preventing injury.

Joseph Madore, proprietor of the hotel, was so badly burned that he died this afternoon. He leaves a wife and seven children, the young est only nine days old.

The interior of the hotel was burned, leaving only a shell of walls. Loss is estimated at $5,000.

Mrs. Houchard was on her way with her two children to visit at Campbellton, N. B., and had registered at the hotel for the night.

From the position of her body it was believed that she was partly stupefied by smoke but managed to struggle out of bed when she was overcome and collapsed on the floor beside the bed on which her children died.

Through a misunderstanding when help first came the firemen were told there was no one upstairs, but later the bodies were found.

CAUGHT IN '$100,000 A DAY' NET

Twenty-six Arrested in Federal Roundup of Texas Promoters

Thousands of Boston and New England investors are concerned in the roundup of Fort Worth, Texas, oil promoters, accused of having swindled the public out of $100,000 daily for several years by illegal use of the mails to sell fake stock.

The roundup at the great Texas oil centre is in full swing today. Following the issuance of Federal warrants against twenty-six oil promoters, fourteen were quickly arrested and the authorities are seeking the remaining twelve.

New England for some time has been literally flooded with the catchy literature, full of golden promises, that has been sent out from both Fort Worth and several branch offices of fly-by-night oil concerns in Boston and New York.

The mails have been veritably clogged with the alluring prospectuses of fake oil companies and their promoters have been reaping a rich harvest.

So monumental and extensive have the operations been that John H. W. Crim, Assistant Attorney-General of the United States, made a special visit to Fort worth last week and the drastic action followed.

As fast as the promoters were brought before United States Commissioner Parker, dispatches from Fort Worth state, bonds were set at from $5,000 to $25,000. Those already arrested include:

LIST OF ARRESTED.

B. S. Henninger, official of the Petroleum Producers Company, Cook's concern.

B. M. Hatfield and Charles D. Spann, attorney, Texas Mexia Drilling Syndicate.

J. Frank Heard, sole trustee of the Borado Oil Syndicate.

J. W. Carruth of the Hog Creek Carruth Company.

A. R. Ekman and W. F. Welty, Petroleum Products Company.

WORKED "MERGER" GAME.

The Revere Company was a pioneer in the "merger" promotion business in Texas, which system, it is charged, Dr. Cook adopted. Under this system the companies "merge" and exchange new stock for old when 25 per cent. additional cash is subscribed by stockholders.

Practically all the companies absorbed by the Revere are defunct or inactive. The cash taken in by this company in the last three years here is reported as $8,000,000.

The arrests were made independent of action by the Federal Grand Jury, which has not yet reported any indictments.

It is expected the entire twenty-six will be tried in the Federal Court of Judge Edgar E. Wilson.

RIVALLED DR. COOK.

Dr. Cook used the "merger" with 200 oil companies, it is charged, by which the public was mulcted of $100,000,000 in investments. Most of Cook's money has been tied up by injunction by his wife, who recently won a divorce.

Carruth, known as "Hog Creek Carruth," was not far behind Cook and the Revere Company in promotion schemes, having operated in nearly all of the Texas fields.

Cox recently was tried and acquitted in the Federal Court at Houston on similar charges. He gained some notoriety when his wife flew in a plane from Houston to New York, accompanied by her son, who was going to school there.

Besides mergers, Cox's hobby is aviation. Although he has made millions in oil, it is said he now has but a small remnant of the fortune.

TWO HURT IN ROXBURY CRASH

Three Others Escape Uninjured as Autos Collide; Both Machines Are Damaged

Five persons were thrown out and two, a man and a woman, were injured in collision of two automobiles in Cabot street, Roxbury, today. Cornelius McKane, forty years, of No. 3 Marble street; Gladstone Davis and Lucy Davis of No. 30 Camden street were thrown from one car driven by Charles Johnson of No. 112 Camden street.

The other car, driven by Timothy D. Buckley of No. 97 West Springfield street, was overturned. Buckley and William Lynch, of No. 99 Springfield street, were hurled out, but both refused medical aid. Both machines were damaged.

RADCLIFFE GIRLS ELECT GOVERNORS

At the annual business meeting of the Radcliffe Student Government Association the new officers for the year 1923-1924 were elected. They are, President, Annie Winsor Allen '24 of White Plains, N. Y.; Vice-President, Catherine McCoy '24 of Washington, D. C.; Secretary, Vera Micheles '25 of Berlin, Germany; Treasurer, Frances Ellen Cummings '25 of Washington D. C.

Annie W. Allen

Miss Micheles is a Russian girl whose family was driven from home at the outbreak of the revolution. She is the first foreigner to hold major office at Radcliffe.

SLAIN MODEL FINED IN ATLANTIC CITY

New York, April 3.—The police announced today that they had verified records showing that Dorothy Keenan, slain model, had been arrested with an aviator and an alleged confidence man for disorderly conduct at an Atlantic City hotel on April 15, 1920. All three were fined. Detectives evidenced interest in mention of a confidence man because of the theory advanced by the district attorney's office that the girl had been chloroformed after she had refused to join in a plot to blackmail J. Kearsley Mitchell.

BANDITS ROB AND BEAT UP CRIPPLE

Lawrence, April 3.—John J. Meade, of Warren, N. H., a cripple, who arrived here today on a visit to his old friend, Kleby Corcoran, the boxer, was robbed by three strangers who invited him for an automobile ride. Meade accepted the invitation and the party started towards West Andover. At a lonely spot on the road, the three stopped the machine, pounced upon Meade and took his roll of $80. They then threw Meade out of the car and escaped. Police are seeking them.

EXCISE AUTO TAX UNCONSTITUTIONAL

The bill before the Legislature to impose an excise tax upon automobiles and which provides that every owner must pay the tax before the car can be operated, is unconstitutional, Attorney - General Benton said today.

The bill is aimed at tax-dodgers who buy their cars on April 2 and thereby escape the property tax which is levied on property held on April 1.

POSTMISTRESS AND SON SHOT IN ERIN

Dublin, April 3 (By International News Service).—Mrs. W. Guinness, postmistress, and her son were reported shot near Sligo today. The boy was killed; the mother badly wounded.

DECLARES WIFE HAS "EVIL VIBRATION"

MRS. RUTH M. LYON

SPIRITUALISM SPLITS HOME IN EVERETT

"Feel my arm," said Mrs. Ruth M. Lyon of No. 877 Broadway, Everett. The reporter obligingly felt.

"Do you sense any vibrations?" demanded Mrs. Lyon.

"Nary a vi," said the reporter.

"There you are," said Mrs. Lyon.

The somewhat unusual demonstration was the result of Mrs. Lyon's declaration that she has no evil vibrations, as alleged by her husband, Roger L. Lyon. Judge McCool in East Cambridge court has under advisement Mrs. Lyon's suit for divorce.

She charged cruel and abusive treatment.

"Roger was all right," Mrs. Lyon said, "until he got hooked up with spiritualism. It got so living with him became impossible. He saw spirits everywhere.

"I stood for it until he told me one day that I had evil vibrations, which sapped his vitality. He told me I'd have to stop vibrating. He was taking a bath at the time. He got so riled that he leaped out of the tub and aimed a kick at me."

"The kick landed," she said. "I have a black and blue mark to prove it."

LONG-OVERDUE SHIP TOWED IN, HELPLESS

After the longest transatlantic voyage ever made by a modern steamship, the Shipping Board freighter West Helix, 6,500 tons, is being towed into Boston harbor by the tug Menominee, according to a wireless received by Rogers & Webb, who operate the vessel.

The West Helix left Antwerp February 2, encountered gales and put in for repairs at the Azores after a month at sea. She later broke down again in mid-ocean and after receiving a tow from another freighter was turned over to the tug which rushed from New York to render aid. She is six weeks overdue.

$4,000,000 CARGO COMING TO HUB

The British steamship Australind will reach Boston next Thursday from Australia with the most valuable cargo brought to an American port since the war. She has 12,182 bales of wool, valued at $4,000,000, besides 1,000 bags of casein.

The Australind passed through the Panama Canal March 27.

RAISES PAY OF 200,000 IN MILLS

Lowell Operators Are Expected to Increase Total to 225,000

Lowell, April 3.—Lowell cotton mills will follow the lead of the New Bedford and Fall River mills in granting an increase in pay to the 23,000 workers, it was learned today.

The announcement by the cotton mills of Fall River and New Bedford that they would grant an advance of 12½ per cent. which affects about 75,000 persons in those two cities, brought to more than 200,000 the number of textile workers who will share in the higher wages announced in the past fortnight.

Assuming an average wage of $18 to $20 weekly, payrolls will be increased approximately $25,000,000 in the year beginning April 30 as a result of the advances in the textile industry in New England. These figures are on the basis of an increase of 12½ per cent.

Another of the lesser cotton cen-

Notices of increases effective April 30 were posted today in cotton mills in northern Berkshire, employing 7,000 persons.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

USE MULSIFIED

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali which is very injurious as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

There is nothing else all so pure. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

One or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulsified cocoanut oil in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt, and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

ADVERTISE YOUR WANTS IN THE BOSTON AMERICAN

TIME IS SHORT FOR LIARS TO WIN TICKETS

Day after tomorrow, Thursday, April 5—Hollis Street Theatre—the play is "Lightnin'," greatest dramatic comedy smash of the generation. Thursday is Liars' Day. The Hollis belongs to the Boston American for that afternoon, and this newspaper will have over 1,500 of the most accomplished liars in New England as guests of the special matinee.

IT IS NOT TOO LATE YET TO WIN A TICKET TO THE MATINEE.

Send in your contribution to this unique contest NOW and you may still attend the show.

Among those who will be presented tickets are:

WILLIAM BORDEN, No. 1 Victoria street, Dorchester:

"Mine is a sad case. I'm a twin. All my life I have suffered because of this, but since my wife came to a lifetime of woe as the result of looking exactly like my brother. He passed on and they buried me."

SERGEANT H. E. MANN, U. M. C., No. 755 Huntington avenue, Boston:

In 1917 the War Department bought an impenetrable swamp at Yaphank, L. I., and sent a lot of us enlisted men down there to clear it up for a training camp.

After fighting the mosquitoes there, fighting Heinies "over there" was a kid's job. One night I was half dead for want of sleep, as the pests gave us no rest, so I took a big, brass camp kettle, turned it upside down, got under it and started to go to sleep.

Pretty soon I heard a boring sound and saw a mosquito's bill coming through the side of the kettle. I took a stone and hammered it over, as one would clinch a rivet.

But another soon got his beak through. I clinched that, and they kept on coming, keeping me busy hammering them down, until so many got on the kettle that they just spread their wings and flew away, carrying the kettle with them, and leaving me to be devoured by the swarms that were left.

Then I deserted, went to Washington, told Secretary Baker all about it. He said he didn't blame me and gave me a job on a submarine where mosquitoes couldn't find me.

HERE'S ANOTHER.

GLENN ELLIOTT, Box 666, Haverhill, Mass.:

"There is a terrible injustice being done me. Each day since the beginning of your contest I have taken my typewriter in hand and composed original whoppers for you. The following day they were printed in your contest, bearing the names and addresses of imposters. Please take this up with the postal authorities at once."

MARY HOLLAND, No. 26 Chester avenue, Chelsea:

"At a recent meeting of a club of girls one of the members started to tell us some of the latest bits of gossip, but the rest of the members told her to stop, that we did not talk scandal or gossip at our meetings, that we just had these meetings to see each other, etc. And do you believe it the whole evening passed and not one girl talked about her neighbors. Every one was pleased at the end of the meeting and wanted to meet again soon."

JOHN J. DOWNEY, No. 275 Chestnut street, Jamaica Plain:

"At a meetings of the Ancient Order of Hibernians the principal speaker was Admiral Sims, who pledged his aid to the Irish Republic fight for Irish liberty."

G. W. DESHON, Essex terrace, Swampscott, Mass.:

WORE OUT PUMPKINS.

"I have been following your Liars' Contest daily and I am grieved to think that anyone would stoop to tell a lie for gain. However, I will tell you of an argument that I had with a friend yesterday.

"We were talking about the fertility of New England farm soil. He was born in Vermont and said that his father raised Green Mountain potatoes that were so large that it only took four to make a peck. Now my father was born in Maine and I know for a fact that he planted some pumpkins one year and the vines grew so fast that the pumpkins were worn out dragging around on the ground."

BURTON W. WHEELER, No. 332 N. avenue, Rockland, Mass.:

"I remember one day my father and I was shingling the side of the barn and after a while the wind commenced to blow. By and by we were forced to stop using our hammers as the wind blew so hard that we could not drive them back after hitting a nail. We then put the shingle in place and put a nail on it with the point toward the building and let the wind drive it in."

R. SPENCER, No. 1653 Dorchester avenue, Dorchester:

"I see by your Liars' Contest that one of the local liars claims to have seen George Washington when he took a hack at the cherry tree. Bah! I drove the hack."

MARY A. WHITTAKER.

Miss Mary A. Whittaker was showered with floral tributes when she took over her new work as secretary of the American Legion Auxiliary at the Legion's headquarters in the State House. Miss Whittaker succeeds Mrs. Laura F. Bailey, who has resigned her position to take a rest at her home in Pittsburgh. The new secretary's home is at No. 18 Hawthorne street, Roxbury.

SEEKS TO STOP STOCK SELLING BY CLIMAX CO.

A mining corporation which claims $870,000,000 of assets, $840,000,000 of undivided profits and $600,000,000 on deposit and which is selling its stock to the humble at the very low price of $5 a share was put on the rack today by the State Department of Public Utilities.

It is the Climax Spar and Radium Company of No. 104 Canal street. It claims to have gained possession of several worked gold, silver and lead mines in the Jimtown belt in Colorado, from which it is extracting flourspar and radium oxide.

Attorney Myer Israel asked that the further sale of its stock in this State he banned on the ground that it either was fraudulent or would result in fraud.

Israel said he had talked with an official of the corporation. He said the officer stated the $600,000,000 on deposit was on deposit in the Bank of Mocher Earth. He said he asked the officer what he meant by the $840,000,000 of undivided profits and the officer said "O, they're undivided all right."

A. D. Mortenson, treasurer of the corporation, appeared at the hearing. He is about thirty. He said that $7,000 of money is needed to install the machinery to take out fluorspar, which will net $15 a ton and which is there in probably inexhaustible quantities.

He said that engineers whose character has been indorsed by the United States Government and the president of the University of Utah are among the experts who agree that the venture is sound.

The department took the case under advisement.

$150 Fine for Man Who Had Booze Worth $10,000

Taunton, Mass., April 3.—John Dogchowski of Seekonk was fined $150 in District Court today on a charge of illegal keeping of liquor. He pleaded not guilty, but admitted through counsel that there was evidence enough to convict.

Deputy Sheriff John H. Nerney of Attleboro, who had seized $10,000 worth of alleged smuggled liquor at Dogchowski's farm, while looking for game cocks Sunday, said he had reason to think that the Seekonk man was acting for somebody "higher up."

Nerney believed the liquor came from boats off Block Island. The cases were wet when seized.

'L' WANTS TO ACQUIRE 'LOST' CAR LINE

The trustees of the Boston Elevated today asked the Legislative Street Railways Committee for power to take over the old Horse Railroad, the "lost road" in Somerville.

The company was incorporated in 1875. It has eight miles of single track on Howland, Medford, Elm, Washington, Pearl and Cross streets and Highland avenue, Somerville.

Representative Walter H. Snow of Somerville said he has lived there thirty years, but never knew of such a road.

General Counsel H. Ware Barnum of the "L" said the corporation was acquired by the old West End Street Railway, but was not included in the merger by which the "L" took over the West End.

He said the eight miles of track are worth about $50,000 a mile. He argued there was no need of maintaining two separate corporations.

The committee voted to report the bill.

FLAYS FOSTER AS AMERICA'S 'ARCH-ENEMY'

By International News Service.

St. Joseph, Mich., April 3.— William Z. Foster is an "arch enemy of the republic," Thomas W. Gore, prosecuting attorney of Berrien County, told the jury today in the State's closing argument in the trial of Foster, charged with violating the Michigan syndicalism act.

The case was expected to go to the jury today or tomorrow.

"Foster has not and will not leave undone any means by which he can accomplish the overthrow of the United States government," Gore declared.

"The Communist party of America is the Communist party of the world. It knows no race, country, no religion.

"The question is not 'Are you an American?' are you a German? or are you a Russian?' but 'Are you a Communist?'

"It's sinister philosophy contemplates a maelstrom of lust and murder. It is the destroyer of hope, the antithesis of happy homes and happy firesides. Its philosophy is devastation.

"It goes to the very root of human happiness and stabs love dead at its feet unless you are ready to give up the fruits of your lives and toil and hardships and tears, unless you are ready to surrender supinely all of the final comforts of life, unless you are ready to plunge into the orgy and chaos of strife and civil war.

"Unless you are ready to surrender freedom for bondage; liberty for serfdom, independence for vassalage, you will return a verdict of guilty."

Are you self-conscious and fearful of the impression you are making on people you come in contact with?

FEAR is probably the greatest handicap any man or woman can have in life. Lack of poise and self-confidence can do more to hold you back both in business and socially than any other one thing.

It keeps you from being your real self, from doing your downright best and from getting on in life as you should.

Your personal appearance often has a lot to do with the way you feel about this. If you know you're rightly dressed and well-groomed you immediately feel more at ease with people.

Still there is one thing that so many people overlook—something that immediately brands them as really fastidious or careless—the teeth. Notice today how you, yourself, watch another's person's teeth when he or she talks. If they are not well-kept, your teeth at once become a liability.

Only the right dentrifrice—consistently used—will protect you against such criticism. Listerine Tooth Paste cleans teeth a new way. The first tube you buy (25 cents) or the free sample (see coupon) will prove this to you.

You will notice the improvement even in the first few days. And, moreover, just as Listerine is the safe antiseptic, so Listerine Tooth Paste is the safe dentrifice. It cleans yet it cannot injure the enamel.

What are your teeth saying about you today?

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need.

This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT WORK

Gained Strength, Weight, and Now Doing Own Work by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Marion, Ind.—"I was all run-down, nervous and bent over. I could hardly drag around, let alone do my work. I read some letters in the papers telling what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and I thought I would try it. Then a man told my husband about his wife and what good it had done her and wanted him to have me try it. I took one bottle and could see what it did for me in a week's time, and when I had taken three bottles I had gained both in strength and weight and was doing my own work. I took it before my last baby was born and it helped me so much. I sure am glad to recommend the Vegetable Compound to any woman who suffers from female ailments, for I know by experience what it can do. I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, also the Liver Pills, too, and think them fine."—Mrs. Wm. Eldridge, 620 E. Grant Street, Marion, Indiana.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

CHARGE WOMEN ARE KILLED IN IRISH JAILS

Cork, Ireland, April 3 (By International News Service).—Bomb explosions have disturbed this city throughout the past 24 hours. The people spent a night of terror. Republicans attacked the military house of the Free Staters near the railway station. The power station was bombed. Two soldiers and a girl were wounded, but no deaths were reported. Five Republicans were captured.

Dublin, April 3 (By International News Service).—Many Irish women are giving up their lives in the fight for the Republic, according to a message made public today through a sympathetic friend of women prisoners.

Miss Nell Ryan, a sister-in-law of General Richard Mulcahy, chief of staff of the Free State army, who, with 91 other women, is on hunger strike in Kilmainham jail, issued the following statement:

"They are killing hundreds of women in filthy jails in Ireland. They are torturing mothers of the finest girls. The most refined women of the country are being jailed. Death would be better than the existence which is imposed after a jail term is passed.

"We are sending out a call for help to the women of America. We want to know if the Americans are aware of the conditions which exist here. We want to know if the Americans know how Irish women are being treated in the jails.

"There are 12,000 prisoners in Irish prisons. Do the Americans know how these captives are being treated? It is a race between the women of Ireland and the bankruptcy of the Free State government. But the women of Ireland will die fighting. They will never give in."

It is alleged that women prisoners are forced to sleep upon board floors in prison cells and that many have become ill as a result of their treatment.

Documents in the possession of the Free State officials show that women are practically the backbone of the Republican guerilla movement.

TEXTILE RAISE IN PAY SCORNED

that a meeting had been called for tomorrow afternoon to consider the situation, adding that Taunton almost invariably followed the action of Fall River in wage adjustments.

Fall River Workers Insist on 29½ Per Cent. Raise

Fall River, April 3.—Leaders of the United Textile Workers of America insisted today that they will continue their fight for the 29½ per cent. wage increase demanded from the cotton mill owners here.

The Textile Council, which includes six of the largest unions, the carders, weavers, loom fixers, mule spinners, slasher tenders and yarn finishers, through its officers has expressed satisfaction over the increase, and expects that the rank and file of workers will accept.

John L. Campos, secretary and treasurer of the Doffers' Union and Fall River representative of the United Textile Workers, issued a statement today in which he repudiated the offer of the manufacturers.

"The offer of a 12½ per cent. wage increase by the manufacturers will have no bearing on our demand for an increase of 29½ per cent. In fact, it will only strengthen our determination to get the balance."

A special meeting of the Fall River Textile Council has been called for Thursday evening to vote on accepting the offer of the manufacturers. An increase of 15 per cent. was demanded by the operatives. A vote of four to two by the six unions in the Council will be required to accept the offer.

grandfather in his dreams, said to himself: "My grandfather isn't dead after all. There is something after death." Then he built himself an idol, in front of which he could bang his head on the ground, reproaching himself for eating his neighbor, or for not eating him.

MR. DICKINSON, once consul-general of the United States in Egypt, is back, gloomy. He doesn't think Egypt will know how to use the "liberty" the English gave them after the war. And he foresees trouble coming in Palestine.

The Arabs, outnumbering others ten to one, resent control of Palestine by the Zionists, he says, and he suggests the possibility of a massacre.

THERE WON'T be any "massacre," although there may be a fight.

The sixty thousand Jews in Palestine are armed with modern weapons. Anybody seeking to "massacre" them will meet with a surprise.

However, those well informed say the Arabs are content, they and the Jews understanding each other thoroughly. Time will tell about that.

She's Bankrupt

EDITH DAY.

EDITH DAY SAYS SHE'S IN DEBT $15,545

New York, April 3.—Edith Day, actress, is bankrupt. In a voluntary petition in bankruptcy she listed her liabilities at $15,545 and her assets $250 in clothing.

The liabilities, as she listed them, follow:

The Gotham Hosiery Company, $60 on account created in 1920.

Lucile, Limited, London, in connection with Carle Carleton, $2,000 on a judgment obtained in London.

Rodman Wanamaker and the Guaranty Trust Company, as executors of the last will of James Gordon Bennett, $12,545, on a deficiency judgment.

FORD OFFERS $50,000 FOR LINCOLN RELICS

Washington, April 3.—Henry Ford has offered $50,000 to Osborn H. Oldroyd for the celebrated Lincoln memorial collection owned by Oldroyd housed in a government building here and consisting of over 3,500 articles pertaining to the martyred President. Oldroyd said he would not agree to the sale until Congress is given another chance to appropriate the same amount of money in order that the famous collection may be preserved to posterity by the United States government itself.

DIABETES CURE FORMULA IS STOLEN

New York, April 3.—Dr. Thomas W. Edgar, president of the Central Sanitarium and Bruno Suderman, who says he is the discoverer of a treatment for tuberculosis and diabetes, reported to the police today that they were held up late last night and robbed of the only copy of Suderman's formula.

Their automobile became stalled in Washington Heights, and when Suderman, who had gone to a nearby house for water for the radiator, returned, he found two men pointing pistols at Dr. Edgar and Mrs. Edgar.

Suderman said he drew a pistol and fired six shots. The bandits fired back twice and escaped into the woods nearby, taking with them the formula, which was in a leather bag, and jewelry valued at $250, belonging to the physician.

PASTOR SCORES POINT IN 'LOVE CHILD' CASE

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., April 3—Miss Iva MacMillan must reveal to the world her charges against Rev. Lee E. Jones, pastor of the Methodist Church at Salem, where Miss MacMillan was a high school teacher when she became a mother last December.

Supreme Court Justice Angell so decided today. The clergyman won the first bout in his fight to clear his name by obtaining a change in the child's death certificate, in which he was named as the child's father.

A motion demanding that Miss MacMillan file a bill of particulars, made by Spencer B. Eddy, counsel for the clergyman, was bitterly contested by the woman's lawyer.

The latter said his client should be privileged to withhold her evidence until the case comes to trial in the Supreme Court.

The court, however, directed that the bill of particulars be filed and a co." given Mr. Jones' attorney.

Telegraph Briefs

Washington—With the approval of the American State Department and through the mediation of the United States minister to Guatemala, the International Railways of Central America and the government of Guatemala have settled a dispute of fifteen years' standing and reached an agreement for construction of a missing link in the Pan-American Railway system.

Denver—A monument to the pioneer miners is provided in the will of Senator Samuel D. Nicholson. The amount of the Nicholson estate is estimated at $1,000,000.

Philadelphia—Cancer can never be eradicated except through use of eugenics, declared Dr. Frank Smithies, secretary-general of the American Congress on Internal Medicine before the annual convention of that organization here.

KEYSTONE JACK IS KILLED BY GIRL'S BROTHER

Memphis, Tenn., April 3.—"Keystone Jack" Britton, pugilist, was shot and killed by Frank Jones, twenty-three. Jones, according to the police, said he had sought Britton since Friday, when his seventeen-year-old sister told him that Britton had wronged her.

Two charges from a shotgun were fired into Britton's body when he drove up to the Jones home.

Rheumatic Pain Goes Quick

Prescription Used 30 Years Works Fine

IF you suffer from backache, twinges of pain in the legs, shoulders and arms or a Rheumatic ache anywhere, get from your druggist a prescription that comes in form of powders and be called Orangeine.

One or two powders will be enough to bring you restful relief and you will wonder why you missed so long with "money" rubs and liniments. A great many people use this prescription to break up a cold and say it never fails to take; when you first get that chilly feeling.

The Best Time to Order Your Awnings and Re-upholstering

Our workrooms are as certain harbingers of Spring and Summer as the robins. Already forehanded house owners and housekeepers are inquiring for estimates and samples and ordering their slip-covers, awnings and similar matters which will soon be urgent needs. Ordered now they can be made more leisurely and held until wanted, and—important!—those who attend to these matters now will not have to wait, as others undoubtedly will who postpone ordering until our workrooms are crowded and rushed.

Telephone Beach 3100 and an experienced upholsterer or awning man will call with samples.

WIFE'S DEATH ENDS ROMANCE OF WAR DAYS

Mrs. Emilie Pennard Hemenway of No. 58 May street, Needham, wife of Raymond B. Hemenway, police reporter for the Boston Transcript, died in Newton Hospital today. She leaves an infant son, born Sunday when a Cesarian operation was performed.

Her death cuts tragic end to a romance that began when Mr. Hemenway, then Top Sergeant in A Company, 101st Engineers, was taken wounded to Base Hospital 7 at Tours, France, and was nursed back to health by Emilie Pennard, a Swiss nurse attached to the hospital corps.

Mrs. Hemenway was born in Phexires, Switzerland, thirty-seven years ago. She came to Boston fifteen years ago, was graduated from Boston City Hospital Training School for Nurses and was assigned to Camp Devens when the United States entered the World War. Later she was sent across and assigned to Base Hospital 7. She was overseas two years.

When the wounded Hemenway was discharged from Base Hospital 7 there was an understanding between him and Miss Pennard. He returned to active service but before he was sent back to this country at the end of the war he managed to see Miss Pennard again.

She returned to Boston and they were married at Whitinsville in June, 1920. About this time Mr. Hemenway went on the Transcript staff.

At the close of the war the nurse was unable to get back to her home in Switzerland to see her own people. After her marriage here she planned to return to Switzerland some time for a home visit.

After the baby was expected Mr. and Mrs. Hemenway planned that she should go back to Switzerland in June, when she could show the little one to the relatives in Switzerland.

Mrs. Hemenway's aunt and niece came over here to accompany her back and passage had been booked for the party for a June sailing.

The funeral of Mrs. Hemenway will be held at 4 p. m. Thursday, at the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Helen S. Hemenway, No. 55 East Bourne street, Newton. The Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, Newton, will officiate.

Vincent Club Girls Rehearsing for Show, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

THEY'RE always a snappy-looking group, are the girls in the drill, one of the time-honored features of the Vincent Club show each year.

Sometimes they're swagger pirates in splashy sashes and dangly earrings; sometimes they're breezy Scotsmen with crooked sticks and gaily-colored plaids; or they may be handsome soldiers, glorious in their bright uniforms and snappy salutes. Then again they were cigarettes one year and fans another. But whatever they are, they're good, and oh, how they can march!

This year the drill is going to be a flock of flapping penguins. Imagine a bunch of these queer "birds" marching briskly about in a dashing military drill. Miss Barbara Foster will lead them, the other penguins being handsome soldiers, Abbott, dark-haired Ellen Greenough, debutante "Pip" Williams, and Gertrude Hooper, while of the matrons making up the drill are Mrs. William Russell, Mrs. John Lavalle, Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall, Mrs. Arthur Lyman, Jr., and Mrs. Paul Roosevelt.

I hear that the costumes and scenery for this year's show, of which Mrs. Hendricks H. Whitman is the author, are particularly clever. Every day the fair Vincentites rehearse busily, so that this year's show—it's going to be presented the latter part of the month—will go down in the history of the club as the "best ever."

TODAY will mark a regular gathering of the clans for one of Boston's largest and most important families. For today is the wedding day of Miss Constance Thayer, second daughter of Mrs. Bayard Thayer, and William Dexter.

Mrs. Thayer has a town house on Beacon street, but the all-important ceremonial will take place in the tiny church at Lancaster, Mass., where almost all the Thayers have their country homes. The ceremony is to be a simple one, with only the family connections and intimate friends, however, bid fair to make a very large showing.

The bride, who's a member of the Vincent and Chilton Clubs, will have as her only attendants her two sisters, the Misses Ruth and Mabel Thayer. The groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Dexter of Marlboro street and the North Shore, has selected as best man Quincy A. Shaw, Jr., a Harvard '19 classmate of his. The ushers include Henry S. Hall, Jr., John E. Thayer, Jr., Henry R. Guild, Philip Shepley, John Caswell, George P. Reynolds, Henry P. King and George S. Weld.

It was last September that Mrs. Thayer announced the engagement of daughter Constance to young Dexter, causing thereby the perceptible buzz which the announcement of any alliance of the Thayer connections always does cause. There followed, of course, the usual round of entertainments for the young people, Miss Thayer going down to the North Shore to visit for a while with the Dexters shortly after the betrothal was announced.

MRS THEODORE FROTHINGHAM, JR., is not only on the committee for the keenly anticipated Infants' Hospital cabaret, which will draw such a fashionable gathering to the Copley-Plaza on Thursday evening, but has also been selected as one of the mannequins for the style show Mrs. Lydia Codman is putting on as part of the evening's program.

MUST MODIFY RADIO TO CARE FOR S. O. S.

An S. O. S. from a ship burning at sea, interrupting the broadcasting of "The Meistersingers," the opening performance of the Wagnerian opera season in Boston, was today cited by experts as a timely and graphic argument for modifications in the use of radio apparatus.

The consensus of opinion was that the commercial, naval and broadcasting interests ought to get together and devise plans by which interference might be reduced or avoided, and, above all to insure prompt relay of signals of distress.

Herbert Hoover is considering a new allocation of ether waves recommended by the Department of Commerce and other interests and President Harding is expected soon to make an executive order. But while the Washington authorities are wrestling with the major problems there are local evils which experts claim should be overcome with all possible dispatch.

CALL OF DISTRESS.

And they referred to last night's brief interruption of the opera broadcasting as a dramatic example. While thousands of radio fans were listening in at their homes on the first revival of German opera since before the war, a distress call was being broadcasted from the steamship City of Victoria, which was on fire off the Azores.

The City of Victoria, a freighter, was desperately trying to make the port of San Miguel while her crew of forty men fought flames in her hold. An outlying station was the first to pick up the S. O. S. in Boston Harbor and notified Charlestown Navy Yard.

W. N. A. C., the Shepard Stores was telephoned to and immediately stopped broadcasting of the opera until the location and plight of the Victoria had been flashed over the Atlantic. Later tidings told how the steamship President Fillmore, bound westward, was the first liner to pick up the Victoria's distress call.

The announcer at Shepard Stores told the radio audience that they would have to stand by ten minutes owing to the tragedy at sea. It was all very exciting and melo-dramatic. The break came in the middle of a tenor solo in the first act. That incident, in the opinion of experts to-day, carried a moral which should be heeded.

It was pointed out that the navy yard and other high power stations had not received the S. O. S. owing to the music broadcasting and that telephones had to be used from the outlying shore station which picked up the S. O. S.

"Last night's happening," said an expert," showed how urgent it is to fix a higher wave for broadcasting. At present the high powered broadcasting stations are too closely tuned to the commercial wave, which is also the international distress signal wave used in dire need.

"Suppose instead of the Victoria on fire in the Azores last night's S. O. S. came from a burning or sinking passenger liner off our coast. Wouldn't the radio fans be concerned if their parents, wives, sisters or brothers were among the passengers? Wouldn't they want to save every second?

"Well, those are the conditions that must be adjusted. There ought to be a sharper gulf between broadcasting and commercial and naval stations. Naval and commercial stations use 600 meter waves. These are drowned by large broadcasting stations if they happen to be located too close.

SIGNALS DROWNED.

"It's just like a roomful of people all talking at once. Distress signals are drowned as that of the burning Victoria was last night until picked up by a shore station nearby. A minimum compliance are used by a station or vessel to avoid broadcasting interference, distress signals cannot be picked up. Naval stations are sentries with ear-tuned every minute of the day. Broadcasting should be given at least 100-meter higher wave than naval or commercial stations.

"The rapid growth of the radio places it in the experimental field. That's why there are so many problems which can be overcome by concentration. It's just a question of getting together and the sooner the better for all hands."

W. R. HEARST'S SON MARRIES IDAHO GIRL

San Francisco, April 3.—George Hearst, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, was married quietly at Martinez to Miss Blanche Wilbur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Wilbur of Idaho Falls, Idaho.

The ceremony was performed at St. Catherine's Church by the Rev. Father E. S. Olsen.

Both are students at the University of California and prominent in the student and social activities of the institution. Mr. Hearst is a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity, and his bride belongs to Alpha Omicron Po Sorority.

The bride has been attending the university for two years and was accompanied to Berkeley from Idaho Falls by her mother.

The bride's father is a pioneer Idaho Falls merchant, vice-president of the Idaho Falls National Bank, and director of several banks in Idaho.

The bridegroom will be nineteen years old the 23rd of this month. The bride gave her age as nineteen.

New York, April 3.—William Randolph Hearst received a message from George Hearst saying that he had ben married, and Mr. Hearst sent his congratulations.

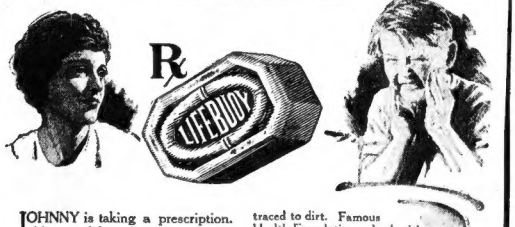
A Wise Mother's Prescription
For Preserving Family Health



JOHNNY is taking a prescription. His careful mother—the family Health Doctor—ordered it. The greatest health authorities would applaud her judgment. Her daily ounce of prevention works wonders in combating disease.

But—you say—he is simply washing his face! No, he is doing MUCH MORE. He is purifying his face with Lifebuoy. A great health prescription.

Dirt is Dangerous

Health is so priceless—and so easily lost! Every day your children touch filthy objects, meet diseased persons, cover themselves with germ-laden dirt.

Almost every known disease can be traced to dirt. Famous Health Foundations plead with you to safeguard husband and children against this dreaded menace.

The Health Habit

Give them Lifebuoy—the health soap. Its rich, creamy lather carries a wonderful health element deep down into dirt-clogged pores. The skin is completely cleansed, purified and deodorized—delightfully stimulated.

Be sure to put a cake at every place where there is running water. How the men folks will thank you! Lifebuoy, you know, is preferred by men everywhere.

You can always recognize the true health soap by COLOR and ODOR. Pure, unbleached palm-fruit oil is red. So Lifebuoy is RED. The unique health element gives Lifebuoy its pungent, healthful odor. The odor vanishes instantly—the protection remains.

DAUGHTER OF VANDERBILT TO WED FOR LOVE

Cosmopolitan News Service.

New York, April 3.—Fairest of all the Vanderbilt heiresses, Cathleen Vanderbilt will spurn the strict decrees of the exalted social set in which she moves and marry for love.

The engagement of Cathleen to Harry C. Cushing, 3d, was to be made public today by her mother the charming Mrs. Sydney J. Colford. The inner circle knows, of course, that the Cushings do not, strictly speaking, belong to the same set as the Vanderbilts.

But young Cushing has made an enviable place for himself in Mayfair and belongs to the Union, Racquet and Tennis and other fashionable clubs.

The wedding of the youthful heiress, who at eighteen is showing traces of that imperiousness of face and gesture which made her mother and grandmother, the dowager Mrs. Vanderbilt, the reigning power in Knickerbocker society, will probably take place at Newport in mid Summer.

Her father, Reginald C. Vanderbilt, it will be recalled, married Gloria Morgan, who is not quite Cathleen's age, a few weeks ago.

Cathleen is a niece of Countess Gladys Szechyni, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney and Mrs. Hollis H. Hunnewell.

Some time in the future Cathleen will obtain control of part of the tremendous Vanderbilt fortune. It was her grandfather, the late "Commodore" Cornelius Vanderbilt, who erected the palatial Breakers at Newport, and the mansion at Fifty-seventh street and Fifth avenue. He is said to have left a fortune of $90,000,000.

CIVIL WAR VET OF 73 HAS 17 WIVES

Rochester, N. Y., April 3.—The rapidly mounting score of wives checked up to date by the authorities against Charles W. Davis, seventy-three-year-old Civil War veteran, whose record of heart conquests reads like the exploits of a sheik, today reached seventeen, with the mother of a well known Rochester woman on the list.

Six States have sent either bench warrants or police information to Wilkesbarre, Pa., where Davis is held, demanding his trial in fifteen cities and towns for bigamy or larceny, or both.

When Davis stepped off a train in Wilkesbarre to meet another matrimonial "prospect" his Nemesis overtook him. He found his proposed bride No. 18, from Cleveland, was his wife several number removed. He previously had wooed and won her under another name.

"Your face looks familiar," he told her.

"You have been altogether too familiar with me," said the Cleveland "Mrs. Davis."

Thereupon a Wilkesbarre policeman stepped forward and Davis has since occupied a cell in the Wilkesbarre jail.

That Davis is the missing husband of Mrs. Emma Champion, mother of Mrs. Wm J. Merriam of Linwood avenue, Brighton, is the charge made today by Rochester authorities.

Predicts Wireless Talk With Spirits of the Dead

Spokane, April 3.—Prediction that communication with the spirits of the dead "will eventually be possible, as it is now to communicate by wireless," was made by Right Rev. Herman Page, bishop of the Spokane diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church, before the Spokane Ministerial Association.

"The world today is drifting toward a spiritualistic movement which, though still in its infancy, may develop to greater heights," he said.

WALTHAM GIRL IS LURED BY STAGE

The glamor of the footlights is believed to be back of the disappearance of fifteen-year-old Elizabeth Wright from the home of her brother, John Wright, No. 9 Pine street, Waltham.

Her mother, Mrs. John Wright of Canada, told the police that her daughter had been stage struck for a long time and had expressed a great desire to go with the May Yohe troupe when they left a Boston theatre.

FATE OF VESSEL AFIRE AT SEA IN DOUBT

New York, April 3. (By International News Service).—The fate of the British steamship City of Victoria, reported afire, in mid-ocean last night, was in doubt today.

The vessel sent out the distress signal:

Two vessels have picked up the S. O. S. and are hastening to the aid of the burning ship, according to messages picked up by the naval wireless station here.

They were the American vessels Coelinda and President Fillmore.

Harrisburg, Pa.—Governor Pinchot, chairman of the Committee on Perpetuation of Roosevelt's Ideas, Roosevelt Memorial Society, announced that Professor Albert Bushnell Hart of Harvard has accepted the chairmanship of the Massachusetts auxiliary to his committee.

HAWAIIAN VOLCANO UNUSUALLY ACTIVE

Hilo, T. H., April 3. (By the Associated Press).—Kilauea volcano is more active than it has been for years. The glow in the sky is visible for miles. With forty acres of lava less than 30 feet from the rim, ten fountains are spouting an amount of lava estimated at three million cubic yards weekly.

W. P. G. HARDING TO GIVE TALK HERE

W. P. G. Harding, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston and former national governor of the system, will deliver an address at a meeting of delegates of the Credit Union League at the Westminster, Saturday. Frederick E. Cox, editor of Telephone Topics, is president of the league.

TOLSTOY TO LECTURE HERE ON APRIL 13

Count Ilya Tolstoy is to lecture at the Huntington avenue branch of the Boston Y. M. C. A. April 13, on "The True Russia." A musical program will be given by the choir of the Russian Orthodox Holy Trinity [illegible] of Boston, Father J. E. Grigorieff conducting. The musical program will begin at 7:30 p. m.

HOUSE OF DAVID IS PROBED BY STATE

Lansing, Mich., April 3 (By Associated Press).—Proceedings to compel officials of the House of David Colony to show cause why the organization should not be disbanded, were instituted in Ingham County Circuit Court here today by the State of Michigan. The proceedings follow closely upon the hearing last week at the suit of John Hansell. At this hearing charges of fraud and immorality were made by Hansell.

The new action is a demand upon the heads of the cult that they appear to defend its activities and show that it has not been conducted and organized in violation of the State laws.

WOMAN TRIED BY JURY OF OWN SEX

Pikeville, Ky., April 3.—A jury composed entirely of women, the first feminine panel in the history of Pike County, occupied the box today in the trial of Mrs. J. D. Elam, charged with having stabbed to death James Case at Hellyer, two years ago. Case was stabbed after he had been shot down by a son of the defendant. The son recently was sentenced to six years in the State penitentiary.

DRUNK FOR 2 YEARS IS MAYOR'S DEFENCE

Pine Bluff, Ark., April 3.—The defence of M. C. Hollis, former mayor of this city, who is on trial on a charge of embezzling city funds and forgery, will be that for two years prior to the time of the alleged offense he was continuously under the influence of moonshine whiskey, according to his attorney. Hollis' counsel will seek to show that due to the effects of the liquor, the defendant could not distinguish between right and wrong.

SIX-YEAR-OLD CRIES FOR DAD TO RETURN

Mrs. Anna Gillis of No. 92 Marianna street, Lynn, appealed to the Boston American today to help her find her husband, Charles Gillis, who left home March 26.

Six-year-old Bobbie Gillis added his childish appeal:

"You'll get my papa to come back to me and mama, won't you" he asked, winking hard to keep the tears back.

Bobbie was assured that "papa" was going to be found. There are two other children, Louise, 12, and Charles 10, who are in school.

Mrs. Gillis and her children face eviction. On the day Gillis left home a notice came from the landlord that the family would have to go if the rent of $7 a week was not paid. Mrs. Gillis has no money to meet the rent, to say nothing of buying food.

Gillis, a Spanish War veteran, forty-two years old, is a foundry pattern maker. He had work in a box factory, but quit there, his wife said, four weeks ago, because he could not make a pattern maker's wage.

Gillis is five feet and seven inches tall and has medium complexion and gray hair.

STONE-HURLER SENT TO PSYCHOPATHIC

Mrs. Alice H. Keefe of No. 5 Goldsmith place, Roxbury, who stoned windows Sunday, was removed to Psychopathic Hospital today after she had smashed crockery at City Hospital. Depressed because of health and family affairs Mrs. Keefe swallowed poison and went to No. 1832 Washington street and there threw cobble stones through the windows.

When attendants told her she would have to appear in Roxbury Court today she seized several cups and hurled them to the floor.

"—the Indian mothers . . . . marveled at such a baby as mine"

OUT in the middle of the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation in South Dakota lives a little white boy. He is called Bunns by his friends. He is a husky little chap, sturdy and full of life. His fine health is in notable contrast to the little Indian babies around him.

For Bunns' sole playmates are the grandchildren and great-grandchildren of old Sitting Bull—the last of the famous Indian warriors—and his followers. And Indian babies are not healthy because they are usually not properly fed—the infant mortality among the Indians is appalling.

Bunns' chance of life was slim enough at birth because he was born through a Caesarian operation. But he was fed on Eagle Brand, the famous baby food, from the first, and "has never been ailing a day since his stormy and dangerous arrival."

"When I brought Bunns home from the hospital," says his mother, "the Indian mothers were daily visitors. They marveled at such a baby as mine. They had heard the story. After this they frequently came to me for advice, and I always recommended Eagle Brand and pointed to my own baby as proof of its nourishing and hygienic merits."

Bunns' father, L. A. Lincoln, of Ogiala, South Dakota, suggested the publication of this tale. "What mother would not be anxious to read a story like that?" he asks.

Mr. Lincoln is a sort of public missionary and teacher among the Sioux Indians. It is his duty to instruct them in various things pertaining to civilized welfare from hygiene and sanitation to books and agriculture.

"I live here in the midst of an Indian atmosphere," he writes. "There are days and days when I see nothing else but Indians." "I got into my flivver and started to Hot Springs one day, and when I got on the way some twelve miles I came upon an Indian chief. I asked him his name, and he told me it was Henry Kills Warrior. Henry could say his name in English, but that was about all the English he knew."

"It seemed that Henry's wife had just presented him with a new baby boy, and it was necessary to feed the little one by artificial means. You can imagine my surprise to see that mother opening a can of Eagle Brand Milk, and preparing the baby's bottle in the most sanitary fashion." Then he adds, "If that wasn't a husky, fat papoose I never saw one!"

THE mother who has used Eagle Brand Condensed Milk for feeding her baby knows its value. Just as Mrs. Lincoln, having raised her own baby on it successfully, is teaching the Indian mothers to give their babies milk, so thousands of grateful mothers recommend Eagle Brand to their friends and write enthusiastic letters to the Borden Company.

Eagle Brand has a national reputation as a baby food. In fact it is more used than all other infant foods together. Many doctors suggest it to their patients.

For Eagle Brand is not only exceedingly digestible, but it is also absolutely pure and uniform. You can keep a supply in the house because it won't sour in the unopened cans. You can carry it with you if you travel, and thus avoid the risk of changing the baby's milk. You can buy it anywhere—whether you live on an Indian Reservation or in the heart of the metropolis.

Eagle Brand makes a splendid beverage for the young child, too. Just as it has brought vigorous health to a million babies, so it helps to build bone and muscle for growing children.

If you cannot nurse your baby, start him on Eagle Brand and keep him on Eagle Brand even when he is through with his bottle. Eagle Brand is just pure milk and pure sugar, the natural food for baby when mother's milk fails.

If you wish for an authoritative guide in caring for your baby, send for the new booklet, "Baby's Welfare." It was written for the young mother by a physician, and tells you exactly what to do. It is free. The Borden Company, 84 Borden Building, New York.

HOOVER SEES PROLONGED PROSPERITY

Washington, April 3.—The country's present business boom is on a sound foundation, Secretary Hoover said today and there is good reason to expect a long continuance of prosperity.

"The business condition is marked just now by the fact that goods are not accumulating," the secretary said. "Although production is at a high point, consumption is equalling it. Goods are moving continuously through the channels of distribution and are not piling up in a way that might indicate a check to business activity would be possible.

"Likewise, prices are not showing the runaway tendency that we witnessed during war time, and immediately after. Although economic forecasting is always hazardous, I can see nothing on the business horizon which indicates that reverses are due."

Customs receipts for March, totalling $62,172,000, broke all records. The nearest previous approach to that figure was $55,135,000 for September of last year.

All countries for which statistics are compiled sent more goods to this country during 1922 than in 1921, though the greatest increase proportionately was from Europe.

WARD A CRACK SHOT, SAYS WITNESS

Albany, N. Y., April 3 (By International News Service).—Palmer F. Tubbs, police commissioner of New Rochelle and a former employe of the Ward Baking Company, was the chief witness today in the investigation the State is making through the Attorney-General's office of the Ward-Peters murder mystery in Westchester County.

It was expected that Allen R. Campbell, counsel for Walter S. Ward, who is indicted for the murder of Clarence Peters, former Haverhill, Mass., sailor, would be recalled to the stand later in the day. The indictment was dismissed early this year.

Ward formerly was a police commissioner of New Rochelle.

Tubbs was closely questioned by Attorney-General Sherman as to whether Ward, his brother, Ralph D. Ward, or his father, George Ward, had ever talked with him about the testimony he gave before the Grand Jury which returned the murder indictment.

"No, sir, they never said a word to be about anything I said before the Grand Jury," Tubbs said.

Tubbs testified he had been employed up to February this year by the Ward Baking Company as assistant to Walter S. Ward. When asked if Ward was in the company's office on May 15, 1922, the day before Peters' body was found, Tubbs said he was "for a few minutes."

Tubbs testified that Ward was not only an expert shot, but had been presented with a .38 automatic Colt revolver by Police Chief Cody of New Rochelle.

Tubbs was shown two revolvers which were turned over to the district attorney by Senator Rabenold, chief counsel for Ward. One was a .38 automatic Colt and is alleged to have been the gun that Ward had on the night of the murder. The other was a small calibre Smith & Wesson and, it is understood, was picked up in the road after the murder. It is believed to have belonged to Peters.

Handing the Colt over to the witness, Assistant Attorney-General Chambers asked if, as near as he could remember, the gun given Ward by Police Chief Cody was like that.

"It was the same kind of a gun," he replied.

"Did Ward ever have a gun like his Smith & Wesson?"

"I never saw him with one like that. That is not a police gun anyway. It's too small a calibre."

The witness told about shooting practice in which new policemen on the New Rochelle force were put through. They were divided up into three squads and a police commissioner shot with each squad.

Tubbs said he knew Ward had been betting on the races, especially during the Fall of 1921. He said men who gave the names of Miller, Mitchell, Quinn and Seibert came occasionally to the office to see Ward, and that he was under the impression they were race track men.

When shown a picture of Peters and asked if he had ever seen him in Ward's office, Tubbs said:

"I don't remember of ever seeing that man."

NEW LYNN LICENSE BOARD IN CRUSADE

The newly appointed members of the Lynn License Commission will begin functioning at a special meeting tonight when the licenses of a number of rooming houses, pool rooms and near beer saloons will be considered. The commission, spured by the Inter Church Union, is planning a crusade. A number of lodging houses have been slated for closing while several alleged bootleggers' haunts will be shut. John J. Murray is chairman of the commission. He was named last week with H. E. Kollock and Hugh Hickey by Mayor McPhetres.

HOW TO SLEEP ON A BARE FLOOR

It is more a matter of SLEEP, than of bed or board.

Many people can't sleep in the softest of downy beds; and all of us suffer occasionally from nerve-racking, wearing, tiring wakefulness at night.

There is always a reason for sleeplessness. Usually, it is a "sour" stomach, a liver that has "lain down" on the job, congested bowels, or biliousness.

Then, just before retiring, take Beecham's Pills. They soothe an uneasy stomach, encourage the organs of digestion and elimination to natural activity, and assure restful sleep no matter what!

STORIES OF BOSTON TOWN

By Jo Swerling

ELIOT PAUL, WHO WAITED ON TABLE IN GLOUCESTER last Summer, has finished his second novel and is now at work on his third. There's a move on to suppress "Impromptu" and it may be successful, but they'll never be able to suppress Paul, who writes about Boston in a manner that Boston is not quite used to—yet.

FOR WHO'S WHO, 1924

Massachusetts is pitifully void in the matter of writers. Who's Who tells the story. It is clogged with celebrities tagged "author" and "writer," who hail from this State. But most of them are perpetrators of sloshy essays, laborious monographs, inconsequential historical and quasi-legendary flubdub, twilight stories for little kidikins, and kindred piffle. Out of these hundreds who are marked for notice in Who's Who, a meagre handful are known at all.

Ben Ames Williams, who has a public of two and a half million every time he rings the bell in the Saturday post (and that's about every other week); Amy Lowell, priestess of pulpeyed poetry, who started something; Alice Brown, who won the $10,000 Winthrop Ames prize for her play "Children of Earth"; James B. Connolly, who won a short story competition held by Collier's in 1914, but who hasn't stopped any literary traffic since; Holman F. Day, Joe Mitchell Chapple and a few—a very few others.

Nothing is said in Who's Who about the two most promising writers in Massachusetts — Eugene O'Neill and Eliot Paul.

O'Neill Has Arrived, Paul Is on Way

O'Neill has arrived. Paul is on his way. It behooves the literati of Massachusetts to train their monocles and lorgnettes on this writing man. "He has been and is insensible to the cold shoulder of the cultural Ku Klux. Some years later they will have Paul addressing their clubs on "The Modern Trend of Writing." They'll have to accept the man. Raw as he unquestionably is he has genius.

Like Conrad, O'Neill, Arthur Train, Knut Hamson, Octavus Cohen and many another, Paul skidded in his run and landed with both feet in the writing field. He spent most of his youth in Malden, where he was born, took a whack at engineering at the University of Maine, was a teacher in the Northwest and then got a job in the State House, here in Boston, clerking. He probably would be there yet were it not for the war. He was in it, with the 315th Field Signal Battalion, and came back so choked with impressions that writing became virtually a pathological necessity.

He threw up his job, grabbed some copy paper and hired a typewriter in an attic on Beacon Hill he began to write. He was too full of his fiery lust, newly acquired, to freeze to death, and a few friends kept him from starving to death. When Sumner came he went to Gloucester and continued his work there. He did odd jobs to keep himself supplied with smoking tobacco and copy paper. He was a waiter, a janitor, an odd job man. And he finished "Indelible."

Urge Pent Up for 30 Years

"Indelible" was published by a local and reputable publishing firm. There was many a directors' meeting before the fatal step was taken. There was fear and trembling when the first edition was out. "Indelible" was full of holes. Amateurishness shrieked at every page. A writing urge pent up for thirty years suddenly found its outlet and the result was largely chaos. In his desperation, his frenzy of the suddenly found expression, Paul took to fiction—a shoddy trick. But the skill was there. It was writing. His novel suffered from elephantiasis, but certainly not from anemia. Not enough bone, perhaps, but plenty of blood. All over the country critics said "A bad novel," and in the next breath asked, "Who is this man Paul?"

Trying to Boycott and Suppress It

Now Knopf of New York has published Paul's second, called "Impromptu." Not as facile line is it. "Impromptu," like "Indelible," pleads for a blue pencil. But it's an immeasurably better work. It's so good that local grannies are already trying to boycott and suppress it. For Paul not only calls a spade a spade but tells you what a spade is, in case you may not know.

Paul loves Boston. He turns a deaf ear to importunities to join the writing colony in New York. "Indelible" was about Boston. "Impromptu" is about Boston. His third novel has been contracted for. It's about Boston. It'll be better than "Impromptu," but not good enough, because Paul's in a rush to write his fourth novel. It'll be about Boston.

Along all the writing fronts Eliot Paul is being heralded as a comer. Don't let this prophet be without honor in his own town. If Paul sticks to his attic on Beacon Hill, that attic is bound to become a shrine.

DEFIES LAW TO AID MAN ON RUM SHIP

Trial Wife Is Rejected After 3 Weeks

SAVES LIFE OF RUM RUNNER

Frostbitten Seamen's Leg Is Amputated by Doctor as Ship Rolls and Tosses

By THOMAS HORGAN, JR. International News Service Staff Correspondent.

The laws of humanity are above those of the State.

So declared Dr. J. Leo Hanson, who today returned from an errand of mercy to a rum-laden schooner several miles off the Massachusetts coast. A few hours earlier while the ship rolled and tossed, Dr. Hanson amputated part of a leg of a seaman, who had first been infected with blood poisoning and then with gangrene, following frostbite.

Tragedy stalked aboard the rum runner. Two days ago her captain shared his stores with two other ships in the "trade," one of which, he declared, has since gone to the bottom, carrying her crew of seven with her.

The booze ship herself had lost her rudder and she wallowed like a drunken man. One of her sails was useless owing to the destruction of a boom. Her decks were deep in ice and the seas washed her from stem to stern.

VETERAN OF TWO WARS

With her jibs and a riding sail, her captain kept her offshore despite her useless tiller. Fifteen hundred cases of choice liquors were still in her hold, half her original cargo, but in six weeks only ten days have been quiet enough to transfer the cargo to smaller vessels.

The guiding spirit of the enterprise is a veteran of two wars. He started from Boston before dawn with two of his "bodyguard," the physician and the writer. Arriving at a point some miles south of Boston, famous in New England maritime history and now the centre of activity for various enforcement agents, the party embarked in a small schooner for the big rum-runner.

While the operation was in progress the crew of the big schooner was engaged in transferring new gear and stores from the smaller vessel which also brought out the doctor. All transfers had to be accomplished by use of the small boat from the ship's supply ship.

DIDN'T DARE LAND

Liquor, at the rail of the vessel, said the captain, sold for $40 a case. An average of $5 a case was paid for transportation to the mainland and an additional $5 for protection. Wages of truck drivers and hire of trucks, he said, combined to cut down the profits of the present day bootleggers to a much lower scale than is commonly believed.

The skipper explained he dared not land the suffering member of his crew because he would be unable to explain to port officials the absence of the portion of cargo which had been landed.

MENTION "BIG ED" FUREY.

The name of "Big Ed" Furey figured prominently in the conversation of the rum runners. The man who was apparently the leader of the enterprise cursed "Big Ed" roundly for visiting his home masquerading as a government officer and demanding surrender of all liquor he had.

The "chief" laughed at tales of "Big Ed's" $2,000 wardrobe, "Big Ed," now held on Federal charges, wears patches in his trousers, he said.

According to the man who is directing the enterprise, there is a big rum war on between the Northerners who have gone running and the men of the Bahamas and Jamaica, who hitherto were content to sell liquor to the runners. Now they are endeavoring to cut into the "trade" and are fitting out their own vessels.

The captain said he had about given up hope of a doctor coming out to his ship. Several had promised, he said, but, failed at the last minute to go through. The big captain said he feared he would have to attempt an amputation himself or see the seaman die.

GERRY'S RIVAL REFUSED TRIAL AS 'LOVE THIEF'

New York, April 3.—Stella Adler, youthful actress known on the stage as Stella Larrimore, today was denied a jury trial to determine the truth of allegations made against her as co-respondent in the divorce suit of Geraldine Farrar against her actor-husband, Lou Tellegen.

Miss Adler, alleged heroine of park bench and hallway spooning episodes with Farrar's one-time "perfect lover," asked Supreme Court Justice O'Malley to order a jury trial and give her an opportunity thus to clear her name.

The court held that as co-respondent she was "not a party to the action in the strict sense of the word, but a qualified party who must come into the action as she finds it, without a retrial of issues already determined."

Her lawyer, however, would have an opportunity of recalling and cross-examining witnesses who testified against her at the referee's hearing, the court ruled.

Arthur Schwartz, Tellegen's counsel, declared he had been instructed by Tellegen to do all in his power to clear Miss Adler's name.

Samuel Untermyer, Farrar's counsel, accused Mr. Brodsky of "trying his case in the newspapers," and demanded a public retraction of charges that the evidence against Miss Adler was a "frame-up."

WOMAN SUES CHARITY ON PROMISSORY NOTE

Mrs. Emma Harriett Burrough of Dedham, today brought suit for $5,000 against the Eliot Ministry Corporation, a charitable organization of Boston. The suit was filed in Dedham. Mrs. Burrough alleges she made a personal loan of $1,000 to the corporation on June 9, 1922, taking a promissory note payable in full on June 1, 1941, with interest at 6 per cent. to be paid on January 1 and July 1 of each year. Mrs. Burrough claims the corporation has not lived up to its agreement.

'Joker' Drops Lighted Cigarette in Mail Box, Starting Fire

Wholesale dealers in hay, grain, flour and feed, with headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce Building, were much concerned today as a result of a fire in a mail box in that building.

The box, of two bushels capacity, caring for the entire building was filled with letters containing hundreds of checks, mailed by stenographers and clerks at the conclusion of the day's business.

Someone dropped a lighted cigarette butt into the mail box, starting a fire which destroyed or damaged practically all the letters.

The postoffice authorities will send the joker to sojourn in Atlanta for a time, if they catch him.

ORDERS PROBE OF FIRE AT NANTASKET

Inquest into the $350,000 fire at Nantasket Beach Wednesday night was ordered today by Deputy State Fire Marshal Timothy C. Murphy.

Investigating officials are convinced the fire was set, hence the formal inquiry.

The inquest will begin at 10:30 Friday morning in Hull Town Hall.

Twenty witnesses are being summoned. Each one will be examined separately and behind closed doors as is customary in fire inquests.

Mr. Murphy will conduct the inquest. District Attorney Harold P. Williams of Norfolk County will sit with Mr. Murphy and take part in the examination.

"The early suspicion that the Nantasket fire was set," Mr. Murphy said today, "has been confirmed by subsequent investigation by State Detective Edward C. Murtagh and myself."

Witnesses will include Charles Hasborough, who discovered the fire while walking on Sagamore Hill, a mile from Paragon Park; the young woman whom he was escorting that evening and who furnished the nickel in charge which Hasborough used to telephone the first notice of the fire; Night Watchman Dodge, who gave the alarm after being notified; the owners of Paragon Park, where the fire started; painters and other workmen in the park that day; fire and police officials of Hull, and any others who were on the scene early.

CITY BEGINS POLL TAX ROUNDUP

Constables armed with warrants, today are rounding up delinquent poll tax payers, under orders of City Collector William M. McMorrow. Unless the tax, amounting to $5 is paid, when the warrant is served an additional cost of $2 cents is added.

Collector McMorrow had decided not to employ constables outside of the city service as has been the case in several other administrations. When outside constables had the collecting of poll taxes, the fees they charged the delinquent citizen sometimes ran as high as $15. In some instances arrests were made to enforce the law.

NEW HAVEN OFFICIAL ON INSPECTION TOUR

New York, April 3. (By International News Service).—To get first-hand information on "traffic facilities" on the New Haven Railroad, Chairman W. A. Prendergast of the State Public Service Commission has made a tour of inspection of the road. The trip comprised the run from New York to New Rochelle, a side trip on the Harlem branch, and the run to Woodside, Prendergast said. His observations will be aired in the commission's decision on the protest of commuters against service furnished by the New Haven.

Seeks $5,000 for Slander

Charging that Andrew Milne and his wife, Bessie H. Milne, defamed his character, Ernest L. Saunders of Quincy today filed a suit for $5,000 in the Norfolk County Civil Court at Dedham.

BANKERS TO SUBDUE FLAPPER

Congress Street Firm Issues Ban on Short Skirts, Rouge, Etc.

The curb is on the flapper at the offices of S. W. Straus & Co., bankers, at No. 55 Congress street, with offices in New York and other cities.

Short skirts, long earrings, lip sticks and too much rouge are banned.

Bobbed hair is permitted. Skirts cut ankle-length are favored.

As to the powder puff—well, that is allowed and a discreet use of rouge might not draw a rebuke. But a little rouge goes a long way, apparently, in opinion of the heads of the house.

The firm has conveyed its ideas to the girls in a bulletin on feminine office attire. It says frankly that "the frump in the office has become ancient history." But it immediately adds:

"The day of the ear-ringed, be-jewelled, made-up flapper is over."

Then the bulletin sounded the note between, thus:

"The best positions are won by women with real merit and ability, whose capability and competency are reflected in their dignified, business-like appearance. They choose their clothes with discrimination, with a view to simplicity and suitability of occasion. Neither do they neglect general attractiveness of appearance, but realize the psychological effect of neatness, attractiveness and simplicity, not only upon themselves in their daily work, but upon their business associates and superiors.

"The healthy-looking, bright-eyed girl or woman who strike the happy medium in personal attire are coming back in the business world, and are meeting with the heartiest welcome."

SAMMY LOSES BATTLE TO STAY IN THE U. S.

Washington, April 3.—Sammy Goldman, sixteen years old, Rumanian refugee, who failed to pass a mental test at Ellis Island, probably will be deported. The boy, who came here two years ago, has been living with his father in Syracuse, and has been coached there in an effort to bring him up the the standards required. The boy had been given four opportunities to meet the requirements, in spite of the fact that the law prescribes only one.

MAYOR SUMMONED IN PROVINCE ST. CASE

Mayor Curley, City Treasurer John J. Curley, City Auditor Rupert S. Carven, and the board of street commissioners were today summoned to appear in the Supreme Court the first Monday in May to answer a petition in equity to stop the widening of Province street. The petition is sought by Charles P. Curtis, Roger F. Hooper, A. W. Longfellow, Alfred Hemenway, Sydney L. Beals, Walter H. Black, Roswell G. Hall, Carelton C. Butters, George A. Kearsley, Bennet Bensbhioff, Albert Matthews and Nathan B. Day.

POLICE SEIZE STILL IN CHELSEA RAID

Armed with search warrants, Sergeant Bart and Officers DeWarn, Flynn and Smalley today visited the home of A. Blair, No. 11 Jefferson avenue, Chelsea, and seized a seventy-five gallon still, with a complete outfit for making "moonshine," a pint of whiskey, four five-gallon tanks, 200 gallons of mash, and several empty barrels. No one was home at the time of the raid.

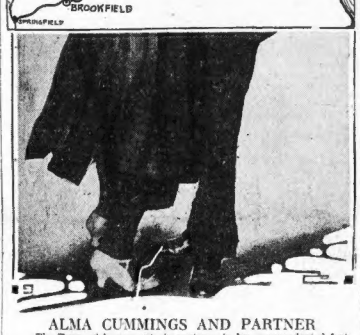
DANCES 66 MILES IN BREAKING RECORD



ALMA CUMMINGS AND PARTNER

The Texas girl wore out six partners in her unprecedented feat in New York of dancing twenty-seven consecutive hours. Statistical sharps figure she danced the equivalent of a little more than sixty-six miles, or from Boston to Brookfield on the B. & A.

New York, April 3.—Not content with having mutilated, slayed and otherwise maltreated the endurance dancing record, Miss Alma Cummings also wears the crown of the queen of hikers.

Statistical sharps unearthed the fact yesterday that the Sultans of Endurance Dancing twinkled her toes 13,200 feet during an hour, or 278,400 feet during the twenty-seven hours of her stunt at the Audubon ballroom, or a little more than sixty-six miles. This is the equivalent of the distance she would have walked if she had directed her energies toward hiking.

Miss Cummings has begun preparations for issuing a challenge to the world for a dancing contest in which she hopes to outdo her Easter record. She is confident, she says, of being able to dance almost forty hours without interruption.

"I am glad I have beaten the Frenchman," she said. For it was the record of twenty-four hours established by Cesare Leone in Paris that decided her in her plan to try to capture his laurels.

HAIR NOT RED, SO HE GOES FREE

"He is not my husband. Mine had a large crop of red hair." Police officers who brought Edward Baker and the way from Chicago as a wife deserter, were electrified by these words today when they presented their prisoner to Mrs. Ida Seronick of Roxbury who brought the charges.

Mrs. Seronick, in court with her two children, steeled herself to meet the "deserter" and found a stranger. Seronick was indicted four years ago.

Baker expects to return West at the county's expense. He says he is broke. Unable to obtain bail, he has been in a cell for two weeks while awaiting identification.

TRY TO BLOCK 'FISH TRUST' SENTENCES

Arguments to block re-sentencing of the fourteen remaining defendants in the Fish Trust case, pending appeal to the United States Supreme Court, were made before Chief Justice Hall of the Superior Court today. The chief question at issue was whether the defendants, if released from re-sentencing on a writ of error and order of supersedeas, could be brought back to serve sentence in case an appeal to Washington went against them.

BOGAN KILLED SEQUEIRA IN SELF-DEFENCE

"I shot Joseph Sequeira because I thought he was pulling a gun or knife on me. I did not intend to kill him."

Edward Bogan, former prohibition officer, so declared when he took the stand in his own defense today at his trial charged with the killing of Sequeira. He is accused of second degree murder.

The ex-dry sleuth disclosed events leading up to the shooting in a room at the North Ferry.

"Sequeira was hitting my partner, Joseph Perrault," he said. I told him to stop. I fired wild, to frighten him. Then he took a step toward me. His right hand went back to his hip pocket.

"As he started to pull the hand out I fired. I shot low. He clapped his hand to his stomach and walked out of the room."

District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien, during cross-examination, said no attempt was made to barricade the doors in the room of the ferry house.

Perrault preceded Bogan on the stand and told a similar story of the shooting.

Perrault was one of three officers who became involved in a street fight with Sequeria and others a few minutes before the killing. Bogan is being tried for murder in the second degree.

Perrault told how the dry agents had trouble in Power Court and how several men had called them "stool pigeons." Bogan, he testified, had been knocked down by one of the men.

Shortly after that Bogan and he ran to the ferry station, seeking a door to escape from the crowd, the witness said.

THEN SHE'S HIRED TO RUN HOME

When She Wants to Quit, Aged Concord Swain Locks Up Young Woman's Clothes

Having reached three score and ten, William Gillis decided he would find a wife to share his cottage at No. 4 Pond Lane, Concord Junction.

His search for a mate took him to Maynard and there he discovered fair Rosia Cyrenia, thirty-four and not at all loth to share the fortunes of the venerable swain.

But one does not plan the celebration of his seventy-first birthday without having developed caution and so it came to pass that William and Rosia decided on a three-week trial marriage so as to find if everything would be congenial.

Rosia found William a perfectly ideal lover but William found Rosia lacking what he had desired in a wife so he ended that agreement and engaged her as his housekeeper.

Rosia finally sought a change but William voted no and in order to prevent her departure locked up all her clothes. She had been arrested on a charge of larceny and today Judge Keyes ordered Gillis to return the hidden garments.

RESTORE SIGHT WITH AID OF CELLULOID

London, April 3.—Half of the blind of the world may be able to see if an invention perfected by a gray-haired man of fifty-three, in a barely-furnished hospital at Petrograd, is as news dispatches describe it.

According to dispatches today, Professor Katz, by his invention, has restored sight to persons who have been unable to see for years.

He is preparing to share his discovery with the medical men of the world and will shortly give detailed descriptions and demonstrations on patients who are now waiting hopefully in his hospital.

Briefly, the operation performed by the professor consists of the cutting away of the withered front part of the eye and then setting in a celluloid cup. Thus the light perception nerves in the back of the eye are given a chance to function and the patient sees through his celluloid eye.

The professor has cured eight persons so far and has amazed the medical men who have investigated. Government physicians are indorsing his work and for this reason his hospital is being supported by the government. His staff, however, consists only of two nurses and a scrubwoman.

ALL SUBWAYS IN TIME, "L" COUNSEL SAYS

The day will come when there will be no more elevated structures in Boston, General Counsel H. Ware Garnum of the "L" trustees, told the Senate Ways and Means Committee today. He said the people want subways and their desires must be consulted.

Representatives James J. Mellen and John J. McCarthy had asked that $5,000 be allowed the trustees and Boston Transit Commission to determine the advisability of removing the "L" structure which deface Charlestown and the substitution of a subway. Barnum asked that the investigation be conducted by the Transit Commission alone.

BRAVES MAY PROVE SURPRISE TEAM, DECLARES SPEAKER

MITCHMEN BOOSTED BY INDIAN LEADER

By NICK FLATLEY.

St. Petersburg, Fla., April 3.—Tris Speaker escorted his Indians into town today to have a wrangle with the Braves before he broke up his camp over at Lakeland. Tris won a lucky one from our athletes on Saturday last, when a couple of outfield flies were batted about a bit, but he can't have all the luck and the Braves figured it was their turn to finish on the plus side this p. m.

The gray haired, but still brilliant Texan, thinks the Braves are quite a ball club. Maybe because they nearly torpedoed his crowd hopefuls that he thinks that way. He has seen them twice, the first time when they were hammering Senator pitchers for 24 runs over in Tampa. As the boys trudged the agate pretty well Saturday Spoke thinks naturally that the club can hit.

Here's how he sizes things up: "The Braves didn't figure to be such a ball club from their Spring record, but when playing them any team must look out. There are some good hitters on the club, as good a looking bunch of sluggers as we have bumped into so far.

"There are a few new ball players on the club, and they seem to have the stuff to make good. They don't act like novices. You can't tell a whole lot in the Spring, but you can get a pretty good idea.

Young Conlon Is a Fine Bird Up There at Bat

"Young Conlon is a fine bird up there at the bat. He doesn't hit at bad balls, and he doesn't let a pitcher back him away from the plate. After he gets used to looking over the stuff in the big show, he should be on those bases lots of the time.

"He has speed and good hands, and all the earmarks of a ball player. Getting a kid that can step right in is a great help to a ball club.

Tell the World Braves Don't Look Like Last Place

"Looks as if Mitch had one. Of course things will depend a whole log on the pitching, and only time can tell what that's going to be. But you can tell the world that the Braves don't look anything like a last-land ball club. I figure to get into the first division sure in our league, and your Boston club wasn't easy for us to take the other day."

The few words of cheer may erase the impression created by more than enough defeats so far in this part of the universe. Manager [illegible] isn't cheering any over all the lickings his pupils have been getting, but he's satisfied nevertheless at the way things have been going.

He Hasn't Any More Than Ordinary Bunch of Cripples

He hasn't had any more than the ordinary bunch of cripples and he has had perfect weather to work his club out in. It rained here yesterday hard enough to eliminate practice, for the first time in two years, but the additional rest didn't hurt anybody. The players have been worked enough to get into very fine shape, and rushing them for the remaining few days here wouldn't do them the least little good.

"We have had enough work," Mitch explains, "to knock all the fat off everybody, and nobody is down too fine. It hasn't been as hot as it was a year ago, and the cooler weather let us go along a bit harder than I had planned on.

All Players Will Be Ready to Play in All Games

"When we leave for the North all the players will be ready to take the work of the seven games on the trip as the last necessary bit of conditioning to open the season in proper shape.

"We have only a few cripples, and they're not serious. The same pitching arms are always present in the Spring, and there's enough material around to let the injured have all the rest they need.

Will Not Pick Team Until After Series With Senators

"I haven't picked out the team yet, and probably will not until after the series with the Senators gives me a real line on what some of the new men can do. There are three or four of them around that seem entirely destined to stick up, unless they blow all to pieces. And there's little chance of that.

"The toughest time for a young ball player comes when the veterans get in shape and begin to show their stuff. Then if a boy is going above his head he will crack. But none of these new chaps has weakened a bit. In fact, all look better as they go along.

As a training camp St. Petersburg seems to be as good as could be desired, and early condition should not be one of the causes if the club doesn't get up right where it belongs from the start.

Mitch Declares Team Does Not Belong in Cellar

Naturally we asked Mitch where he thought the club belonged and he countered by declaring that he knew it didn't belong in the cellar. That's what everybody here thinks, too.

Joe Oeschger and Tim McNamara were listed to do the day's pitching against the American League invaders, and the pair have some lucky breaks coming their way. They have lost two or three tough ones between them, despite the fact that all the athletes claim Joe and Tim have a wonderful assortment of Spring stuff.

It's a cinch that both look good.

Giants' Captain Says Club Will Make it Three in a Row

San Antonio, Tex., April 3.—Dave Bancroft, captain and star shortstop of the New York Giants, today predicted that his club would win the National League pennant for the third straight year. "As far as I can see, there is not a single reason why we should not make it three in a row," Bancroft said.

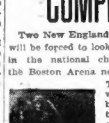
PACIFIC COAST AMATEURS TO COMPETE

Two New England ring champions will be forced to look to their laurels in the national championships at the Boston Arena next Monday and Tuesday nights, when the two best boxers on the coast will compete against the local boys.



Mickey Landers.

Two San Francisco entries have been received and each boxer is coming East with hopes of annexing a national title.

Jack McPartland, the greatest amateur boxer on the coast is entered in the 133-pound class. This means that Mickey Landers, the New England 135-pound champion, will be called upon to face his most formidable opponent of the year. McPartland is sure to prove an acid test for the local boy.

In the 112-pound class, Tommy Duffy, New England champion, will find it difficult to hurdle Raymond See, the San Francisco 112-pound champion. These two boys are reputed to be classy performers and local fans are anxious for a peek at them.

It was announced that no entries for the tournament will be considered after tomorrow night. All entries must have been filed with William H. Cuddy at the B. A. A. by that time.

This is imperative on account of the exceptionally large entry list received already. Although it has not been definitely decided, it is probable that the first bout will go into the ring at 5 p. m. next Monday. The large entry list makes this move advisable.

The greatest advance sale in history has featured the show.

PATERSON IS SOCCER WINNER ON FORFEIT

By Universal Service.

New York, April 3.—The Paterson, N. J., football club came into possession of the national soccer title when the Scullin Steel football club of St. Louis forfeited to it.

The Scullin Club decided to forfeit because it could not put its strongest lingup on the field next Sunday, when a play-off of last Sunday's 2-to-2 tie at Harrison was scheduled.

The decision was made at a meeting of the officials of the United States Football Association and the managers of the two clubs after several telegrams had been exchanged with the Scullin officials in St. Louis.

St. Louis asked to have the play-off somewhere in the Middle West, as four of its strongest players could not come East next Sunday, but this was not considered fair to Paterson.

BOSTON UNIVERSITY TENNIS SQUAD LARGE

The Boston University tennis squad plans an intensive outdoor practice season to start as soon as the Longwood courts are ready.

Carp and Siki Must Battle for Charity

Georges Carpentier and Battling Siki will fight in Paris on September 16—whether they want to or not.

They have been "commanded" by the French Boxing Federation to go through with the battle, the proceeds of which, minus training camp expenses, will go to French government laboratory funds.

Georges Carpentier

Battling Siki

This information has just been received from Paris.

It may be recalled that after Carpentier was dethroned by the Senegalese he pleaded for a return fight. He said he didn't want a single franc for his services—that he merely wanted revenge. Siki was under suspension at the time, but declared that if the suspension were lifted he would give Carpentier such a fight and wouldn't exact anything further for his end than training expenses.

But after Siki was beaten by Mike McTigue and so lost the world's light-heavyweight, both Carpentier and Siki lost all interest in the prospective match and it was announced that the affair had been called off.

But now the federation has stepped forward and under threat of suspension of both fighters, insists that they must go through with the match as originally scheduled.

DIXFIELD, ME., AFTER LORD FOR MANAGER

Augusta, Me., April 3.—Representative Harry D. Lord of South Portland, ex-third baseman and captain of the White Sox and formerly of the Red Sox, may don the spangles again this Summer.

Dixfield, Me., has been angling for someone to handle the ball club, and learning that the one time premier third sacker of the American League for thirteen years has sold out his business in South Portland, approached him with a proposition to cover third and handle the team.

ALL ENGLISH TEAM WINS FROM FRENCH

Paris, April 2.—The All-English rugby team defeated the All-French team, 12 to 3, in their 13th annual game in the international rugby tournament participated in by France, England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland.

The defeat was the twelfth the French have suffered at the hands of the English.

Last year's game ended in a tie.

LONG SHOTS HAVE CALL AT OPENING

New York, April 3.—Three long shots "got over" at Bowie in the opening of the racing season.

Lady Choco, winner in the first race, paid $35 for a $2 ticket in the Mutuels. Helen Atkin, winner in the second, paid $42.50. Betting Sun, first home in the fifth, paid $61.20.

The lucky ones chortled and danced or, as some did, remained poker-faced, although inwardly exultant.

DILLON BEATS SHYNE IN LYNN BOUT

Jack Dillon of Woburn won the decision over Billy Shyne of Quincy before a crowded house at Lynn Casino A. C.

In the preliminaries Bunch O'Neil won over Frank Fitzsmi of Lynn in eight rounds; Frank Boff, Charlestown, knocked out Archie Killey of Portland, two rounds; Al Lewis, Boston, stopped Ray Mercier, Danvers, seven rounds. Young Battle of Lynn won the decision over Frank Mitchell of Gloucester, six rounds.

WILL PLAY IN WIMBLEDON TOURNEY

America probably will be represented in the Wimbledon tennis championships in England in June by Vincent Richards as well as by Francis T. Hunter of New York.

The youthful net satellites plan to sail in May for London, which would put them on the other side in sufficient time to become acclimated before playing in the tournaments.

Vin Richards

Hunter and Richards plan to enter the singles and also to team in the doubles; likewise to go into mixed doubles if any American women play in the tournaments.

BURRELL A. C. IS READY TO PLAY

A bunch of young ball tossers who have been playing together for three or four years, will again represent the Burrell A. C. Last season the team finished at the top, and is willing to tackle the toughest opposition that any amateur teams in the State can give them now.

J. Fella

Nick Delfuro and Pete O'Neil carried the burden of the pitching all season, while J. Fella and Bud Currie were the leading batters in the squad.

Warren Kennedy, Joe Mulvey and Chatter McKay make a trio of fast fielders, while the outfield will be taken care of by Currie, Sasso and Sweed, who will also take his turn in the box.

"Bud Currie

At the last meeting Charlie Banda was elected manager, while Bud Currie was made captain. Games can be arranged by telephoning South Boston 2323-J, between 5:30-6:30 p. m. Ask for Charlie Banda, or by writing to him at the Burrell A. C., No. 99 Burrell street, Roxbury.

RED SOX HOPE TO GET PITCHER DIXIE DAVIS

By CHARLES E. PARKER.

Little Rock, Ark., April 3.—May be "Dixie" Davis will pitch ball for the Red Sox. This is the message that was being whispered about Little Rock when the Red Sox landed here for the opening game of their annual barnstorming tour.

The sponsor of the report is a close friend of Bob Quinn, the St. Louis business manager, and the dope, in a more or less complete state, follows:

"Dixie" Davis, the Brown's big right-hand flinger, is now on their trading list. It is said that he and Lee Pohl, manager of the Browns, do not hitch and have not hitched for some time, evidence in support of this being the public run-in conducted by the two at the Yankee-Brown series the last season; also Dixie's failure to report to the Browns' training camp when ordered.

When the Browns sought the service of George Burns "Dixie" was one of the three players they offered Manager Chance, Frank Ellerbe and an outfielder were the others.

Frank Does Not See Way Clear to Swap

And, although Frank did not see his way clear to swap Burns for that combination, it is said that the Browns' willingness to get rid of Dixie pleased him immensely.

In fact, Bob Quinn's pal tells us Clance already has made overtures for the grabbing of Dixie. What these overtures are, have not been revealed. But do not be surprised if "Dixie" Davis becomes a member of the Boston team within the next two weeks.

Red Sox Can Use Another Good Pitcher

The Sox can use another experienced pitcher. Howard Ehmke, Jack Quinn and Alec Ferguson have come along most satisfactorily, but George Murray and Carl Stimson, the two most promising youngsters, have been held back by ills or injuries, and will not be right until the season is on its way.

twirling staff have yet to impress their boss. Consequently a bird of the calibre of Dixie Davis would fit dailhe of Dixie Davis, would fit nicely into the early season scheme of things.

Dixie Won Eleven and Lost Only Six Games

Dixie participated in twenty-five battles last season and was credited with eleven wins and charged with six defeats. That, record is not so good as Dixie seems capable of acquiring.

Agreeably situated under Manager Chance, he might easily prove the sensation of the coming season.

And it is possible in view of the somewhat unstable situation at third base that Ellerbe may also land with the Long Chances. Last year he participated in ninety-one games, batting close to the .250 mark, and despite an injured knee showed a very good brand of fielding.

No information to the effect Chance is after the St. Louis infielder has been forthcoming, and Bob Quinn's acquaintance said he knew naught of it.

See Their Hair, Boys!

Learn How They Make it Stay Combed

If you want your hair to stay back and stay down like other boys, use Stacomb, as they do.

Just ask your drug store man for a jar of Stacomb, then you can comb your hair in any style you like—pompadour, or parted in the middle and brushed straight back, or any other way.

No matter how stiff your hair is you won't have to wear a cap to keep it in place. Stacomb makes it stay combed, slick and shiny if you use enough to get it that way or just natural if you use less.

Ask Mother or Dad

Ask Mother or Dad to get Stacomb for you. Your drug store man will tell you it's what all the boys use now.

Stacomb is made with natural oils which are good for the hair and scalp. Dry and brittle hair is unknown to users of Stacomb.

It isn't sticky or greasy and doesn't stain caps or pillows.

Everybody's hair looks better all day when Stacomb is used.

Dad will want to try Stacomb, and so will Mother, especially after they've washed their hair, for even then they will find it effective.

Ask your friends what they use. They'll all say Stacomb. Just ask and see.

TICKETS GO TO 15 MORE BONEHEAD WINNERS

Notice to winners in the Bonehead Contest:

Do not attempt to call for your tickets. A ticket to the opening game of Stacker of Boston's ball team will be mailed to each winner in ample time for him to make use of it.

Still plenty of tickets to be awarded. We started with 300 ducats. Including winners today, there still remain 215 tickets to be given away. But don't delay to the last moment. If you intend to send in a bonehead, do it now.

Today's winners:

William H. Xeo, No. 140 Woodcrest avenue, Dorchester:

"The bonehead I ever saw was a street cleaner who worked steadily filling a barrel with dirt. The barrel had no bottom."

K. McDonald, No. 110 Beaumont street, Dorchester:

"I was attending an Irish meeting on Saturday and an Italian burly-gurdy man had to start grinding out 'Sweet Save the Kling' just as we got started. I think he ought to win one of the tickets, but I couldn't get his name. He ran too fast."

A. Hartman, No. 20 Leach street, Salem:

"I visited my uncle's farm last Summer and congratulated him on the big fan he used to cool his stock with. Later on I found out it was just a windmill."

M. E. Melvin, No. 44 Pieres avenue, Everett:

"A bonehead's a guy
Who misses a fly,
In the last inning,

Here is one of the biggest bonehead stories that I ever heard as told to me by a baseball coach:

It was kind of chilly so the ball players wore sweaters during the game. The first baseman of the team on the field was playing far off his bag when suddenly the batter bunted. Instead of covering his bag, he started after the ball. His coach began to yell, "Cover the bag, Cover the bag!" What does he do but run back to his base, take off his sweater and cover the base with it.

Other winners, whose contributions are not printed for lack of space are:

R. Windley, 360 Thames street, Newport, R. I.

Moses Vigor, 20 Hewins street, Dorchester.

John Herran, 32 Alleyne street, West Roxbury.

Albert R. Browne, 1087 Broadway, West Somerville.

Nat Huberman, 161 Allston street, Allston.

George Budwiser, 87 Everett street, Middleboro.

Edward F. Conroy, 117 Webster avenue, Cambridge.

John Sullivan, 433 Saratoga street, East Boston.

John F. Ryan, 97 Chester street, Allston.

Norman Solomon, Care Lens Shoe Co., 82 Lincoln street, Boston.

BANTAM STARS READY FOR CRUCIAL BOUT

By JACK CONWAY.

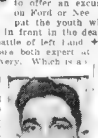
Henry Ford and Tommy Nee will battle for a place in the ranks of the big money makers when they collide in a ten-round frolic at the Armory A. A.'s show at the Grand Opera House tonight.

Tommy Nee

If you believe New England has not developed any star boxers in recent years, get a ringside seat and size up Ford and Nee. They are two of the best bantams in the country. They are only kids as far as years and experience go. But they have traits of fistic ability, confidence and the courage that enables one to batter his way to the fistic heights.

The victor of tonight's quarrel will be in line to secure matches with the best bantams in the country. Abe Friedman, for instance, will be unable to offer an excuse as to why he should not take on Ford or Nee. And a win over Friedman would put the youth who grabs the verdict tonight very much much out in front in the dear old pugilistic parade.

It will be a battle of left hand + Ford and Nee was both expert at this style of delivery. Which is an other reason why these boys should move ahead rapidly. A good left hand is about the best asset a boxer can have. Right hands occasion ally win a bout but left hand may be relied upon to triumph consistently.



Barney Snyder

Nee and Ford have walloped all of the local opposition. This is one of the reasons why they should do so well tonight.

Barney Snyder, Roxbury veteran, will stage a come-back when he mingles with Tony Thomas of New Bedford in the semi-final of ten rounds. Snyder has collided with most of the star bantamweights and has an idea he will prove worthy for a tussle with Pancho Villa. Thomas is a rugged, two-handed mixer and feels he will upset Snyder's plans.

* * *

There will also be a couple of eights. Barney Nelson of Lowell will mingle with Willie Ryan of Providence while Bobby Desmond of Philadelphia will take on Spike Hennessey of Waltham.

Dan Dowd to Get Back on the Fistic Map.

Jeff Smith

Dan Dowd, former New England heavyweight champion, will resume operations in the ring when he meets Jeff Smith in a twelve round bout at Lewiston Me., on Wednesday night. Dowd has put himself into good condition and figures interesting for Smith. The latter has won virtually all of his starts in Maine rings.

Alex McLean to Give Attention to Business

Alex McLean, who completes his relationship with the Armory A. A. with tonight's show, will devote his time to his business interests for the next four months. Tex Trigg, a matchmaker may then return to the boxing game as a manager. McLean has been instrumental in booking some high class attractions for the Armory Club. He has also given our local boxers an opportunity to display their wares at bouts at the Grand Opera House.

McLean has managed some of the world's greatest boxers. Jack Johnson, Sandy Ferguson, Mike Gibbons, Gilbert Gallant and many others received preliminary training under his direction at various times.

McLean, unlike so many of our modern boxers, is not blinded by the early success of a youngster. He refuses to accept matches, which, although they would bring big purses, would soon result in the downfall of a promising youth. Alex believes in taking a youngster over the jumps at a careful pace.

Floyd Johnson Under Contract For Bout at Arena.

Floyd Johnson will be one of the principals at the opening show of the Arena A. C. on April 16. It was originally planned to put Johnson against Rogers. The latter, however, has been scratched from the card. Matchmaker Tom Goodwin has wisely completed arrangements for pitting Johnson against one of the prominent heavyweights in the country.

NORTHEASTERN HAS DUAL TRACK MEETS

The School of Engineering, North eastern University track squad has made arrangements for dual meets with Boston University April 25, and New Hampshire State College at Durham, April 28.

A big team will be sent to the Eastern Intercollegiates, May 12.

The team had a successful indoor

"Ford and Nee should furnish one of the best ring bouts of the year," declared Jack. "Possibly you may not agree with our selection of Ford. But we didn't expect everybody would.

"Betting on that bout is at even money, which indicates the difference of opinion over the probable winner."

Conway has established a new world's record for winning selections with twenty-six straight victories.

Will it be twenty-seven straight after tonight's bout?

FIRPO SIGNS TO BE READY TO SUBSTITUTE

New York, April 2.—Luis Angelo Firpo, the South American heavyweight, and Jack McAuliffe, 2d, of Detroit, signed contracts which call on them to fight fifteen rounds at the Yankee Stadium on May 12.

This fight will be held in conjunction with the 10-round battle between Jess Willard and Floyd Johnson for the benefit of the Milk Fund of the Mayor's committee of women, of which Mrs William Randolph Hearst is chairman.

Firpo signed at the offices of "Tex" Rickard. McAuliffe signed both in Detroit and immediately wired acceptance.

According to Firpo's agreement he is willing to replace either Willard or Johnson in their fight in the event either is unable to appear.

McAuliffe also holds himself ready to meet any other opponent decided if Firpo is unable to fight him.

Boston American Ring Results

At Pittsburgh—Marty Burke of New Orleans and Jack Kenault of Canada fought eight rounds and started the ninth. Referee called off the bout. Alleged stalling was the reason.

By BILLY McCARNEY.

Excelsior Springs, Mo., April 3.—Jess Willard has six weeks' training ahead of him. He will leave here April 13, train in Chicago the morning of April 20, and open his New York camp Saturday afternoon, April 21.

When word was passed to the former champion that it had been ordered that he must train three weeks in New York city, he raved and ranted. He is so well-quartered here he does not want to move.

The fact that Floyd Johnson will be permitted to train at White Sulphur Springs, in upper New York State, does not rate well with Willard. To him it looks like discrimination and he intends to make a request that he be allowed to stay here until one week before the big bout on May 12.

The city authorities have provided Willard and his retinue with one of the finest houses in the city in the heart of the best residential section of the city. Its right up to the minute. A paved path runs the big fellow plenty of leg exercise, as he enjoys it.

Wide Scope Radio Set Helps to Make It Pleasant

An expensive phonograph with up to date records, and a wide scope radio set and help to make spare moments pleasant. It is small wonder that the training grind is not playing hob with his nerves. Less wonder that he does not want to pull stakes and move East.

Because of rain and muddy roads yesterday Big Jess had to curtail his outdoor work. He trotted around the paved streets of the city instead of taking to the hills.

The rain swelled the gate at training quarters, as golf was out of the question. Most of the guests give over their afternoons to moving about the links, so it was the first opportunity many had to give the big chap the "double O."

Went at It Hammer and Tongs With Drake

He stood up well in the work and went it hammer and tongs with Harry Drake. The roughness of Willard appears to be telling on Drake.

The Englishman, who tips the beam at 195 pounds, but looks like a small middleweight against Willard is a pugnacious mortal and fights back with plenty of venom. He appears to like the rough going, but has entirely too much weight against him. He was engaged to speed up Willard, and that was what Jess wanted.

Drake has difficulty reaching Willard with straight left jabs, which does not augur well for the chances of Floyd Johnson, as his left stab is his leading asset.

Now He Has Mastered Blocking Blows to Head

During the early days of his training Willard gave over his time to perfect a defense. Now he has mastered blocking most all blows to the head and takes deliveries to the body with a nonchalance that proves the fitness of his stomach muscles. Blows to the mid-section he sheds like water from the back of a duck.

WILLS RATED AS BEST HEAVY

Boston and New England boxing fans have started to dope the world's five leading heavyweights.

Harry Wills

Wills, Dempsey, Firpo, Johnson, Willard.

In discussing the heavyweight division, Flynn says:

"Wills has proved a better fighter than Dempsey. He has engaged in more bouts and defeated tougher opposition.

"I place Firpo ahead of Johnson, as he is stronger and a better puncher. I think that in a fifteen-round bout the Argentine warrior would prove too tough for Floyd.

Luis Firpo

"What is your list?

Write it out and send it to Jack Conway, Sporting Department, Boston American, No. 89 Summer street, Boston.

Downey-Bogash Draw

Rochester, N. Y., April 3.—Lou Bogash of Bridgewater, Ct., and Bryan Downey of Columbus fought 12 rounds to a draw.

GREAT CARD OF TALENT FOR CHARITY

The biggest list of talent ever to appear on one bill is what the Western Union A. A. will show at their big charity show for Devastated France at Scenic Temple tonight.

Sixty boxers, the cream of the professional and amateur world, are on the bill and also a first-class lot of singers, dancers and comedians.

It will be by far the longest show of its kind ever staged in this city and from the moment the opening number is put on there'll be something doing every minute up to a very late hour.

A capacity house is sure to be on hand, as a large number of tickets have been sold.

BOSTON UNIVERSITY RIFLE TEAM PICKED

As the result of a competition with New England colleges having R. O. T. C. units, the Boston University R. O. T. C. rifle team has been selected as one of the five teams to represent New England in the National Intercollegiate R. O. T. C. rifle match held annually under the auspices of the National Rifle Association.

The match, which is in six stages, will last until May 15.

HOLLISTON BATTLES NATICK WEDNESDAY

The Natick and Holliston basketball teams will meet at the Casino, Framingham, tomorrow night to decide the championship of central Massachusetts. Holliston, last year's champions and claimants of the title this year, have been challenged by the Natick team. Both teams will use their regular lineup.

The Sherborn A. A. second team, claimants of the junior championship, will meet the Holliston second team between the halves.

CORRECT PIVOTING IS A GOLF ESSENTIL

By GENE SARAZEN,
World's Champion Golfer.

Correct pivoting is as essential for a good golfing as a straight left arm. But the amount or degree of pivot depends on the individual. For instance, I don't believe I pivot quite as much as Jim Barnes; Long Jim doesn't seem to pivot as much as Walter Hagen and I am sure Hagen doesn't pivot as much as Jock Hutchison—undoubtedly the greatest exponent of the pivot in the game.

Hutchison is not so heavy nor quite so strong as any of us. Therefore, he must pivot more than we do to get the distance—and you will notice that "the Hutch" is generally right up with the crowd when it comes to long distance hitting.

He has developed this business of pivoting to a finer science than anybody, I think.

Gene Sarazen.

On our tour of the Pacific coast and the South this Winter we usually gave a demonstration of making preceding our matches. I would play a number of shots and Hutchison would explain the mechanics of the golf swing.

But before this exhibition he generally gave a wonderful fine explanation of the value of footwork and the use of the pivot in a golf stroke.

"In pivoting," Jock would point out, "it is necessary that the left knee be inclined towards the ball on the backswing. You can't hit the ball properly unless it is.

"If the knee bend forward instead of in test the ball you will be thrown offside. If the knee isn't broken and the swing is rigid and unbal-

GERMAN OPERA STARS PILING UP U. S. CASH

They declare with naive candor that they are piling up American dollars to take back to Germany, the land of (comparatively) low finance.

"We all expect to return to Berlin as millionaires, and every day we draw our American salary s/he anticipate multi to the millions," declared Meta Seinemeyer, with a delicious twinkle in her flashing dark eyes.

The hundred members of the Berlin Opera company have been shooting the chutes, financially speaking, for the last few years. From being high-salaried darlings of the musical world they found themselves being paid less than the very scene shifters who had grown old at their bidding. Carpenters, understakers, street car conductors all looked down on them as far as their respective pay-envelopes were concerned.

GAZE ON $5 WITH WONDER.

Now they are on the crest of the wave again, and they gaze at a $5 bill with child-like wonder.

"At first when we came over we had cries of spending. It seemed too wonderful to open your bag and find it bursting with American bills, one of which would have kept us in luxuries living in Berlin for a whole week. When we looked at a dollar bill, we unconsciously translated it into 19 000 marks," laughed Elsa Alsen, the soprano star of the company.

"American people are amazingly extravagant. In Berlin, where the mark is worth so little today and may be worth nothing tomorrow, people are price-fixing at great economy. And economy there is a gamble. Here people think nothing of their money. It passes through their hands like the wind," commented vivacious Emma Baasth in her bewitching, broken English.

PRACTICING THRIFT.

"We are being as thrifty as ever we can, so that we can take as much as possible back to Germany. Every dollar we save here means a day of luxury at home. Today I did not buy a pair of lovely black chiffon stockings that I wanted. That means a week of wealth for me at home. And that wealth will include many pairs of black chiffon stockings! It is very amusing and wonderful," cried Miss Baasth gleefully.

The fair German singers are almost as fond of American men as they are of American money.

"They are the most gallant men on earth today, your Americans," said Miss Seinemeyer enthusiastically. "They are so gentle and respectful, and so clever, too! German men do not know how to deal with women, but American men are all —what you say—slickers!"

WARMLY GREETED.

Many of the members of the company confessed that they landed in the United States with fear and trembling as to the reception which would be offered them. They spoke of the kindness and graciousness that have been shown them, with sincere appreciation and humility.

"The bigness and good fellowship of the American people have touched us deeply. We are eager to go home and tell our people how wonderful you have been to us. We have been treated like honored guests, and the two countries would be fast friends again if they could meet and mingle as we have," said Miss Seinemeyer.

COMEDY PLEASES AT ST. JAMES

For those who have forgotten how to laugh, John E. Hazzard's "Turn to the Right," which opened at the St. James Theatre, is the best prescription. This delightful play, in three acts with a prologue, furnished a capacity audience with three hours of mirth-exhausting comedy.

The play opens with Joe Bascom, the hero in the person of Walter Gilbert, deciding to walk the straight and narrow path, despite the appeals of his two former prison mates, "Muggs" and "Gilly," to do just one more job before renouncing their evil ways.

Joe returns home in time to learn that his mother and sister are about to lose their home on account of a debt to the village shylock, Deacon Tillinger. "Gilly," who is an expert safe cracker, and "Muggs," a most artistic pickpocket, arrive via freight car at Joe's home at a most opportune time.

BROADWAY SUCCESS AT THE SOMERVILLE

Ann Hamilton returned to the cast of the Somerville Players yesterday and contributed a fine interpretation of the leading role of "The Goldfish." The play is one which was presented in Boston, not so long ago with Marjorie Rambeau as its star. It is replete with bright dialogue and breezy situations. Harry Bond, the leading man of the company, made his usual good impression. Others who deserve special mention are Joseph Granby, Mrs. George A. Kibbard, Peggy Skinner and Reg Mary Ellsop.

META SEINEMEYER

WAGNER OPERA SEASON OPENS BRILLIANTLY

By ZOE FABER.

Hans Sachs, the cobbler of Nuremberg, and his band of Meistersingers; the irate town clerk, Sixtus Beckmesser; the lovely Eva, and the nurse, Magdalena, once more trod the boards and sang the old and ever new melodies of Richard Wagner last night at the Boston Opera House. It was the opening night of the fortnight that Boston has in store of the operas of Wagner, and "Die Meistersinger" was the bill.

The house was very well filled and it was a brilliant audience with the boxes very much in evidence.

Edward Morrice, who, by the way, is general musical director, directed proceedings, and how well he performed what proved to be an arduous task was attested time and again by the recalls of both conductor and singers.

Mr. Morrice is an opera conductor of high rank and he marshalled his forces and carried them through with high honors.

Paul Schwarz, singing the role of Von Stolzing, was clearly under the influence of a very bad cold, and at the end of the first act he concluded that the impossible was being tried and resigned his part in favor of Heinrich Knote, who proved to have a very good voice though it is not to be classed with the finest.

Hans Sachs was sung by Friedrich Schorr. It is a fine role and also, in passing, it requires a fine voice to handle it successfully. The voice of Schorr is organ like in tone and of tremendous volume, though it can soften to a plaintive that is sheer delight.

Eva was sung by Editha Fleischer, and Magdalena by Emma Baesh, both of whose voices are excellent. As the only two women of any importance they stood out clearly and well.

EXCELLENT COMPANY.

An interesting characterization, both vocally and dramatically, was that of Beckmesser of Desider Zador His voice is fine in quality and he acted the role splendidly

'SHUFFLE ALONG' BACK IN HUB

Next to eatin' watermelon making easy music is the three a darky or players can't do nothin' else better than!

The new company now playing "Shuffle Along" at the Arlington Theatre proves this beyond a shadow of a doubt. For about two hours, these dusky jazz dancers have everything on earth beat. Dink Stewart and Chick Fisher in particular seem to have dancing legs made out of animated macaroni.

The costumes are particularly noteworthy, and the new Tut effects set off the genuine beauty chorus to stunning advantage. Flashing black eyes, warm copper skin and dazzling white teeth make a superb setting for the vividly colored costumes.

JULIA ARTHUR IN 'HAMLET' AT KEITH'S

Honors among an all-star bill are shared between Miss Julia Arthur and Margs Waldron at Keith's Theatre this week.

Different as the acts are, Miss Arthur presenting a scene from Shakespeare's "Hamlet," whereas Miss Waldron, assisted by George Halprin, presented a unique classical dancing offering, each act has its own merits and well served its purpose.

In fact it is quite difficult to enumerate all the good acts. Taken as a whole they present a pot pourri of fun and enjoyment that furnishes a good evening's entertainment.

Ben Rubin, a Boston boy, and his partner, Charles Hall, almost "took the house." He really had something to offer Other very fine acts which completed the bill included Paul Decker and company in "I Heard"; Joe Browning in "A Timely Sermon"; Dave Gibson and Sylvia Price in a comedy novelty; Bert Rule and John O'Brien, Bill Frawley and Edna Lavine in "It's All a Fake," and the Eight Blue Demons.

FILENE SHOW AT TREMONT IS BIG SUCCESS

"Jerry," a new musical comedy in two acts and a prologue, was presented at the Tremont Theatre, under the direction of the Filene Co-operative Association, before a crowded house and was an unqualified success in every way.

The play is full of action during the entire three hours of the performance. The scenery is excellent, the solo numbers were most acceptably rendered, and the chorus work, under the direction of R. L. Harlow, was unusually good.

To Robert Chesterhis as "Joe Kelley"; T. M. B. Hicks, Jr., as "Itch"; Harold H. Hodges as "Chic Saunders"; Gladys Bowditch as "Jerry" Mason and Elizabeth M. O'Grady as "Kate Shanley" is due no small amount of praise for their work. Each and every member of the pony chorus were busy responding to encores.

'THELMA' A HIT AT TREMONT TEMPLE

The trim British yacht of Sir Philip Bruce-Errington carted the blue waters of a Norwegian fjord and dropped anchor in the bonny harbor of Thelma Guldmar's mother. Then unfolds the love story of Thelma and Sir Philip in the little village of Roseloch.

It is a tale of superstition, pagan worship, intrigue and romance, shadowed and strengthened by the mysticism of the Vikings from whom Thelma is descended. The story is laid partly in Norway, Land of fierce fjords and hates, and partly in London drawing rooms.

Most popular "movies" are love stories but Marie Corelli's masterpiece is one in a thousand, and the film version of "Thelma" at Tremont Temple does it ample justice.

Jane Novak achieves a triumph. Her characterization of the courted sun goddess is superb, and she has a way of wearing a few beautiful gowns in the London scenes that won't mar her popularity a bit. Quite the contrary.

BEBE DANIELS IN FILM AT STATE

"Glimpses of the Moon," a Paramount picture of rare excellence, was heartily received at Loew's State yesterday. The picture, with Bebe Daniels and Nita Naldi in the featured roles, deals with the social life of the idle rich and the side that is carefully concealed. The companion picture was "A Noise in Newborn," in which all the beauty, youth and freshness that is Viola Dana's was displayed to good advantage. The story is a comedy-drama, with a happy combination of swiftly moving plot, intrigue and excellent settings. An excellent comedy and a news pictorial rove also shown.

FILENE COMEDY AS SEEN BY HARMONY

ARTIST'S IMPRESSIONS OF "JERRY"

Week's Features

WASHINGTON—"The Face at the Barroom Floor," with Henry B. Walthall, Ruth Clifford and Alma Bennett; also a Gloria Swanson Feature and news and comedy reels.

BOSTON—Tom Mix in "Three Jumps Ahead" and an Al St. John comedy, "Young and Dumb," also a news reel and several acts of vaudeville.

MODERN AND BEACON—Pola Negri in "Mad Love" also "Breaking Home Ties." News and comedy reels.

OLYMPIA—"The Third Alarm" also news and comedy reels. The vaudeville bill is headed by Reynolds Donegan with a skating ballet.

STRAND—John M. Stahl's "The Dangerous Age" and Charles Chaplin in "The Pilgrim."

SCOLLAY SQ.—Jackie Coogan in "Daddy." First showing in Boston. Also five acts of vaudeville, and news and comedy reels.

CAPITOL—Ben Turpin in "The Shriek From Araby"; first showing in Boston. Also news and comedy reels and an organ recital.

Plays That Remain

PLYMOUTH—"Just Married," with Vivian Martin and Lynne Overman. A farce of many weird and complicated situations.

SELWYN—"The Fool," a play by Channing Pollock that is called inspirational by the press agent. Very serious.

HOLLIS—"Lightnin'," a rural comedy of which it may be said that life is just one week after another —and probably many more to come.

SHUBERT—Another six days of the Greenwich Village Follies. Comedy, melody and color make up this extensive entertainment.

MAJESTIC—The last week of "Spice of 1922." Just a mixture of everything you have ever seen in a musical revue.

WILBUR—Helen Hayes, in "To the Ladies!" A comedy that presents modern life as you find it at trade banquets.

'ADAM'S RIB' TOPS ORPHEUM BILL

"Adam's Rib," Cecil B. DeMille's wholesome comedy drama, was shown at Loew's Orpheum Theatre yesterday. The scenes include the Natural History Museum, the Chicago Board of Trade and interesting "visions" showing the life of pre historic man. In the cast were seen Milton Sills, Elliott Dexter, Theodore Kosloff, Anna Q. Nilsson, Pauline Garon and Julia Faye. The vaudeville was headed by Mme Doree, who presented a fantastic song-dance journey into melody land entitled "Here, There and Every where." Assisting Mme. Doree were a number of celebrated musical stars. Other acts were Wilson and Jerome, Mammy and her Gold Dust Twins, the Caledonian Four and the Imperials. A comedy and a news reel were also shown.

MISS CHALFANT GIVES SONG RECITAL

By ZOE FABER.

In the person of Lucille Chalfant, the "Greenwich Village Follies" invaded Jordan Hall yesterday afternoon. Miss Chalfant, like a few others of her profession, has chosen to enter the concert field.

The audience obviously liked Miss Chalfant, the songs she sang and the way she sang them. She has an attractive personality with much beauty and grace that predisposes an audience in her favor.

Her songs ranged all the way from Handel, Meyerbeer and various others to conclude with some by John H. Densmore, with the composer at the piano. The latter group proved to be the sort of thing that Miss Chalfant does best—that is to say, she is more successful in the light, airy, melodious type than the more serious.

'RADIO GIRLS' AT THE CASINO

Audiences at Waldron's Casino yesterday were on the receiving end of merriment and sent back waves of laughter as "The Radio Girls" with Billy Gilbert as the featured comedian kept the fun tuned up to high pitch. Vaudeville and moving pictures of high class completed the three-in-one continuous program.

Billy Gilbert, an eccentric comedian of distinct and individual style, got a fast pace in fun-making. He was in several comedy scenes with Alice Carmen, the prima donna, that made special hits. Clears, classic dancer, was right in keeping with the King Tut rage of the present day with a series of European dances in special setting.

Emma and Bobby Wilson had a fast jazz dancing specialty and Arlene Johnson, the Louisiana singer, presented coon songs.

The company voyaged to the "Spice of Adventure," which is the title of the extravaganza. The deck of the pirate frigate "Fearless," the rajah's palace, the garden of the Sun and other scenes were set off with gorgeous costuming and a brilliant lighting display.

Appealing Sonia

DOROTHY FRANCIS

JIMMIE COOPER AT THE GAYETY

They call it "Jimmie Cooper and His Beauty Revue," but the whole of fun, melody and girls which opened the Gayety Theatre yesterday is more like a three-ring circus, so numerous and entertaining are the various diversions Cooper offers.

'MERRY WIDOW' REVIVED AT COLONIAL

Once more "The Merry Widow" has come to Boston. Although billed as an entirely new and modernized production, the operetta is virtually the same as when first staged, and it is as charming as when Donald Brian played the role of Prince Danilo. It is at the Colonial Theatre and will remain two weeks.

The most notable of the innovations is a dancing specialty in the last act by Fred Ranoff and Loris Lee. This is especially well done and is unusually effective.

The production is well costumed, and the settings are up to the usual high standard of the producer, Henry W Savage. In several of the scenes the gowns worn by the women caused admiring comment.

The cast is well balanced While the actors do not seem to be quite as able as when the show appeared here originally, that presumably is due to the fact that then the score was brand new and the effect of the "Merry Widow" waltz numbers was much greater than now after the piece has become shopworn by virtue of graphophones and hurdy-gurdies.

Thomas Recital

A program which will be equally interesting to musicians and to people who do not know music, but merely love it, will be given in Symphony Hall next Sunday evening, by the popular and accomplished American baritone, John Charles Thomas and the Hungarian pianist who has been a success equally with audiences, Erwin Nyiregyhazi.

Coming Plays

"Six Cylinder Love" will come to the Tremont next Monday. Ernest Truex is featured.

"Cornered," by Dodson Mitchell, will be the attraction at the St. James next week.

The Token of Betrothal

IT was during the second century B. C. that women began to flash a ring on the fourth finger of the left hand as a symbol of betrothal. It was displayed on that particular finger in the belief that a vein ran from it to the heart.

THE ENEMIES OF WOMEN By BLASCO IBANEZ

Start Here Today This Engrossing Story of Life and Love from the Master Pen of One of the World's Greatest Novelists

By Vicente Blasco Ibanez,
Author of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and Other Novels of World Renown

HE had left the arm of the chair and was standing, facing the Prince. The latter made a gesture as of weariness. He was bored by Atillio's words, by that childish story about the train, the red-haired soldier, and the insolent invitation. That night move Dona Clorinda, but nobody else; he had more important things to think about just then. And since Castro had refused to do him the favor, he might leave him alone.

"Good-by, Michael!" said Castro, with the conviction that this farewell was going to be something more than a momentary parting.

When he had almost reached the door, Atillio turned back.

"I know what my refusal means, and what it is up to me to do. Good-by again. Remember that if you were to ask me anything else——"

All Arranged

Immediately the Colonel entered the room, as though he had been waiting on the other side of the curtain for Castro to come out. His chamberlain had never seemed to the Prince so active and intelligent.

"It is all arranged, Marquis." "I have my second," he con on the grounds of Lord Lewis' and the meeting will take place tomorrow at two in the afternoon, on the grounds of Lord Lewis's estate."

Michael thereupon gave the Colonel his instructions. It must be an encounter under rigorous conditions, like those he had taken part in in Russia. There was no other way, for had he not received a blow? And he said this with a sullen voice, quite convinced of the absolute reality of the insult.

Everything was arranged, Don Marcos reported. The meeting was to take place the following day at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. It could not be managed earlier; there were still a great many things left to be done. The place selected was Lewis' castle, since an encounter in the principality of Monaco would be impossible; all the houses there were close together, without a single quiet spot where two men might face each other, pistol in hand.

Lubimoff was almost speechless, so great was his surprise. The choice of arms was his, as the injured person, and he had mentioned to his representative the sober, the favorite weapon of his youthful duels. Toledo for the first time faced the furious look of his Prince without a tremor.

"Marquis," he said with dignity, "it could not be anything else! You must remember that this poor man is a convalescent, almost an invalid. I am astonished that he should have persuaded his seconds to allow ever pistols. His representatives did not want to accept anything. They are among those who feel that this duel ought not to take place."

The Prince calmed himself. A sense of equity caused him to accept Toledo's decision. That sick fellow was not an enemy worthy of his sabre; it was necessary to establish a certain equality between them, and the pistol would do that, being the only weapon that lends itself to surprise and whims of chance.

"At any event I shall kill him," thought Michael, remembering his skill as a marksman.

"I must tell Your Highness," the Colonel went on, "that all weapons are the same to him. This young man and his two friends are well acquainted with everything that concerns warfare, but they haven't the slightest notion of dueling and the weapons that are used on such occasions."

Then he enumerated the conditions. The distance was to be fifteen meters; each one was to fire a single shot, but each might aim and fire while he who was to direct the combat was counting from one to three. With a marksman like the Prince such conditions would be serious.

Stricken with remorse on noting the war medal on the breast of his youthful opponent, Gaston (William Collier, Jr.), Prince Lubimoff (impersonated by Lionel Barrymore) lowers his pistol without firing and staggers toward Gaston, as the latter succumbs to an attack of the heart. One of the most dramatic moments in "Enemies of Women." This magnificent picturization of the famous story is presented by the Cosmopolitan Corporation at the Central Theatre, New York. The players in this scene from right to left are: Lionel Barrymore, Pedro de Cordoba, Alma Rubens and William Collier, Jr. (stretched on the ground).

Exactly! The Prince found them acceptable.

The Colonel went in quest of Martinez with a certain hesitation. In spite of his old beliefs, he felt Castro's protests had been quite reasonable. Perhaps what he said was right, that this duel was a piece of foolishness, madness even on the part of the Prince. But his traditional ideas revolted against such scruples.

Honor Is Honor

"Honor is honor," he told himself, and set about the details of the encounter.

When he asked the lieutenant what arms he preferred the young soldier was at a loss.

"I am unacquainted with so many!" he exclaimed.

In an attack he had wounded with the point of a saber a gigantic German who was threatening him with his bayonet. The thrust had met something hard that crunched and spurted a shower of blood into his face.

He was somewhat familiar with the revolver, but was by no means a marksman. He was more expert with other weapons—the hand grenade, which reminded him of youthful ball games; the machine-gun, which he had handled as an aid; explosive hurled with a sling. He was even fairly skilled in artillery, particularly trench artillery, the loading of short-range mortars, and in firing torpedoes and asphyxiating projectiles into neighboring trenches.

A Scornful Smile

He smiled scornfully when the Colonel insisted on the fencing formalities necessary to an encounter with sabers. Martinez had his own style of fencing—to go straight up to the enemy and strike first. But in hand-to-hand fighting he preferred the knife. With a revolver he had never bothered about aiming. He didn't fire until he found himself close to the enemy, and was sure of his shot.

"And the dueling pistol?" asked the Colonel.

"I am not acquainted with it at all. I should like to see one, though; it must be something curious."

But when the lieutenant presented his second the bewilderment of the Colonel was somewhat relieved. There were two extremely young captains, probably twenty-five or twenty-six years of age. Their uniforms fitted very tight about their waists, their kepis were of the latest style; their neatness and elegance pleased the Colonel, who immediately took them to be professional soldiers. They must have come from the school of Saint-Cyr; his professional eye could not be mistaken; they were of a different stock from humble Martinez.

Burned on One Side

One of the captains had had his face burned on one side by German liquid fire; the other's face was furrowed with a network of scarlet threads, which were the remains of scars, and they both limped.

Their first words were rather embarrassing for the Colonel. What was the meaning of this, a civilian daring to insult a soldier who was recovering from his wounds? What was the idea in proposing a duel in the midst of war? Anyonew he wanted to die himself or kill some one else had only to go to the front like the rest.

The Captain and the Colonel were the only ones to do any talking. In the beginning the Captain had had an air of jesting, with a Parisian sense of humor, at the solemn high-sounding terms in which Don Marcos treated questions of honor. But the Colonel's reserved and persistent grandiloquence finally got the better of the other's inclination to banter. The young Captain took the same tone as the Colonel, finally becoming interested in the affair and recognizing its importance.

And when the encounter was arranged for, in its slightest details, this young Captain summed up his impressions with a simplicity that made the blood of the Colonel run cold.

"One or both, perhaps, will be wounded. There is nothing extraordinary about that. Who isn't wounded these days! Surgery has made great progress! It is quite different from what it was at the beginning of the war. If a man doesn't die on the spot, he is nearly always saved. Besides, they will put them to bed and they won't remain abandoned on the field for days and days, as happens in war."

"I am assuming, of course," he continued, "that no one is killed. Because, if, for example, my comrade Martinez, who is as gentle as a lamb and of whom I am very fond, should die in this farce, I'll kill your Prince on the spot, without any rules whatsoever, the way we kill a Boche at the front."

A New Angle

The tone in which he said these words was so sincere that the Colonel, deeply impressed by them, did not observe how strange they sounded in the mouth of a supposed expert in the laws of honor.

On finding himself alone, the Colonel began to make preparations for the encounter. He needed a doctor. He would go next morning and find an old doctor in Monte Carlo who visited the Prince from time to time. He needed powder and balls; he proposed to go in quest of them tomorrow, also. He needed two cases of pistols and he had only one!

YOUTH AND VIRTUE

PROF. McKEEVER PRAISES BIG MAJORITY

By Wm. A. McKeever,

THE hue and cry about juvenile badness has been overdone and the tide of abuse is receding.

In the great cities where the schools have been reported as "hotbeds of vice" a splendid daily paper has brought out reports and evidence to prove the story is false.

A large majority of the pupils of the schools in this particular city is steady and straightforward and reliable. So states practically every principal in a published interview.

It proves to be the old story of the shouting of the few being mistaken for the voice of the many. Exaggerated reports and over-gossip about the few children and youths who actually have gone to the bad have served overtime, that is all.

Given a fair opportunity, children are more inclined to be good than they are to be bad. They learn wickedness rather slowly and are even slower in the matter of inventing wrong.

The age thirteen to fifteen is perhaps one of gravest danger, as the moral judgment and the moral restraints are not yet well organized and merged into character. But even then it is only necessary to keep them in a relatively simple and innocent social atmosphere as a safe means of beginning a constructive character development.

What we need today is a greater faith in the inherent goodness in common childhood and a more general disposition to give ordinary youth a chance.

What we need further is to use every means available to shut off public gossip about the supposed perversities of the young. It is bad enough to discredit the integrity of the adult population, but to spread constantly a tale of woe about the conduct of children is utterly unfair and inexcusable.

Let us encourage the kind of optimism as being given out by the principals referred to above.

The head of every large grammar school and high school in the country should be invited to publish a statement of the facts as to the wickedness of the children under his jurisdiction. I am willing to make a guess that the uniform verdict would be "The great majority are good and true."

Let not only the school principals, but every one who is dealing with a considerable number of the young, join now in praise of the good majority. Then we shall hear less and less about the bad minority, and that minority will dwindle toward the zero point.

WHO SAID IT AND WHERE

"In the morning of the world." Was first used of ancient times by Robert Browning in "Pippa's Passing."

"Revolutions are not made; they come."
Revolutions generally are like spontaneous combustions which occur when certain conditions are verified. Wendell Phillips, the noted American orator, voiced this truth in a speech delivered January 28, 1852.

"They that change the old love for the new,
Pray gods, they change for worse."
This sentiment is opposed to the more popular one, "Off with the old love, on with the new." But the latter did not appeal to George Peele from whose "Cupid's Curse" we quote.

DAILY HOROSCOPE

Mary Blake Says:

A PERSON born on this day will be generally successful and will reach an envied position in society.

If this is the anniversary of your birth you should have above all the other interests of an unusually strong character, a distinct love for all things mechanical or scientific. You like tangible things, things that work, that you can see and touch.

You love fair play and are only severe on those who cheat—whether it be in business or in sport. The flexibility of your character might fit you for one of many different careers—if you choose one early in life and stick to it—o'erwhirre it is a quality which is a decided disadvantage to you.

You are fond of art and literature and whatever else the circumstances of your life may be you will find some means by which to express the emotions which stir within you.

Your philosophy in matters of money dealings is keeping with your general broadmindedness. You would rather earn more and spend more than earn little and save.

ETIQUETTE POINTERS

By Ann Adams

When at a Dance

Dear Miss Adams:

When a gentleman escorts a lady to a dance, should he always stay near her and dance each dance with her? If not, how is it arranged that the gentleman dances with other ladies and the lady dances with other gentlemen?

Also, how should I introduce my girl friend and her friend to my partner? How do I introduce him to other ladies and gentlemen? I have understood that you introduce the lady to the gentleman and I have also heard otherwise, but I never knew how to introduce one gentleman to another.

PUZZLED.

There is no reason why your escort should stay with you and dance every dance with you. But a gentleman must stay with a lady until another gentleman asks her to dance. Then he may leave and ask another lady to dance.

You present your escort to your friend by saying, "Miss Johnson, may I present Mr. Clark?"

You present your friend's escort to your escort by saying, "Mr. Clark, Mr. Brown."

These suggestions indicate to you how to present your escort to the other ladies and gentlemen.

RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

"MY business used to be all right," said Billy Brown one day, "now Smith has got a better site, my trade will fade away. I've always thought his business block the best our town could boast; he'll win, with his new-angled stock, while I give up the ghost." So Billy whiled his time away with watching Smith's affairs; he knew what Smith put out each day for upkeep and repairs; he knew just what each clerk pulled down at Smith's Emporium, for many hours with solemn frown he'd labored on that sum. And Jimmy Green across the way had also caused him woe; "Competitors," Bill used to say, "will surely lay me low." He kept an ever-growing list of customers of Black, and often angrily he hissed: "See how they set me back!" The dust was everywhere about, the shelves were never clean, for Brown was busy watching out and keeping tab on Green. He had a very meagre stock, and when a buyer came he never lost a chance to knock the other merchants' game. And when he should have swept the floor and brightened up the corners, instead he watched folks pass his door to trade with Mr. Green. His place was filled with rust and dust and stock from by-gone days. Folks said: "Old Brown is bound to bust, that's not the line that pays." As shoppers daily hastened by Brown grew more gruff and glum, and ever kept a watchful eye on Smith's Emporium. So he at last was put to rout and if you ask him why his business simply petered out, "Competitors" he'll sigh.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on the wrapper for over 30 years just to protect the coming generations. Do not be deceived. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but experiments that endanger the health of Children—Experience against Experiment.

Never attempt to relieve your baby with a remedy that you would use for yourself.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Comfort—The Mother's Friend.

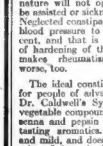
This Laxative Works Fine on Old People

Thousands have kept themselves healthy with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

ADVANCING age with its subdued ambitions and strivings could be made very happy if only good health accompanied it, and the basis of good health, as everyone learns upon reaching the age of 60, is the regular daily movement of the bowels. If it can be effected through the food you eat, the water you drink and the exercise you take, so much the better. But if nature will not operate it must be assisted or sickness will follow. Neglected constipation causes the blood pressure to go up 20 per cent, and that is the forerunner of hardening of the arteries. It makes rheumatism and gout worse, too.



The ideal constipation remedy for people of advancing years is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is gentle and mild, and does not cramp or gripe. It is a mistake to think you need a violent salt or powder or pill, calomel, cool-tar drugs and such things. They purge and weaken you, and their reaction tends to make you more constipated than before.

Now try the milder method. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect with repeated use, and increased doses are unnecessary. But if M. Burgess of Enfield, N. C., who is 73, keeps herself in good health with it, and Mr. Charles Cheeman of Stapleton, Staten Island, N. Y., wasted fifteen years and considerable money on other remedies before finding steady relief with Syrup Pepsin.

Use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin yourself the next time you suffer from constipation, biliousness, headache, sleeplessness, indigestion, piles or night cramps. Many thousands of elderly people use nothing else, and it costs them less than a cent a dose. Druggists have sold it successfully for 30 years, and it is the most widely bought family laxative in the world.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a dependable laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

"I treat 'em rough," he declared.

I was talking with an executive who is bombarded by men, mostly salesmen, looking for an opening in his very large organization. I had remarked that I had infinite sympathy with any worthy worker looking for a job.

As I knew that at heart this man is all right, I expressed astonishment.

Then he explained:

"Yes," he replied, "I treat 'em rough. I do it purposely. To more than half of the fellows who come looking for a job I reply that I am far too busy to waste time talking to fellows like you, who can't hold a job and who go around four-flushing."

"Would you believe that disposes of a very large percentage of these job seekers?"

"Why do I do it? Simple enough. I figure that the most important thing in the world for a salesman is to sell himself. I mean that there is nothing more important to him, when he is out of a job, than to land another client. Railroads and Steels Are Leaders in Rally in Irregular Stock Market

CAN. PACIFIC IS AT NEW HIGH FOR YEAR

Railroads and steels were leaders in a late-day rally in an irregular New York stock market, with the forenoon session featured by a mod-erate consumption of Monday's wave of liquidation.

Canadian Pacific rose nearly 2 points to a new 1923 high, while Lackawanna was off 1½ points to a new year's low, then rallying for a point gain. Union Pacific, Monday's conspicuous feature, enjoyed a fair comeback.

Eastman Kodak and Shell Union did made new highs in the afternoon, Eastman being up more than 4 points.

Money prevailed at 5½ and it drop to 5 per cent. was the signal for the rally.

A BLEMISHED SKIN QUICKLY HEALED BY THIS SULPHUR

Face, Neck and Arms Quickly Made Clear By Mentho-Sulphur

Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or beset out with eczema; that is covered with ugly rash or pimples, or is rough or dry. Nothing subdues fiery skin eruptions so quickly, says a noted skin specialist. The moment this sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops and after two or three applications the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it conquers the parasites that cause the burning, itching or disfigurement. Mentho-Sulphur always heals eczema right up.

"SPRING FEVER" DAYS ARE HERE

SPRING is the time of renewed life and vigor in Mother Earth, and should be with you. What you need is that best of all "spring tonics" Gude's Pepto-Mangan, for over thirty years the regular spring medicine in hundreds of thousands of families.

Take it for a short time, and see how the purified blood goes dancing through your veins, how new strength and endurance thrill every muscle and tissue.

Your druggist has Gude's Pepto-Mangan, both liquid and tablets.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan

Tonic and Blood Enricher

Since Viking Days

cod-liver oil, now known to be exceptionally rich in the vitamines, has been a means of health and strength to tens of thousands.

Scott's Emulsion

is cod-liver oil direct from the "Land of the Vikings," made into a form not unlike rich cream. It helps make and keep boys, girls and grown people sturdy.

To Make Hairs Vanish From Face, Neck or Arms Use Delatone

(Beauty Culture)

Keep a little powdered delatone handy and when hairy growths appear make a paste with some of the powder and a little water, then spread over hairy surface. After 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be entirely free from hair or blemish. This simple treatment is unfailing, but care should be used to be sure and get genuine delatone, otherwise you may be disappointed.

Hyomei Kills Germs of Catarrh

BOSTON AMERICAN

Boston was incorporated as a city February 23, 1822, when the act was passed by the Legislature. The act was accepted March 4, 1823.

House Should Stand Fast On Old Age Pensions

By twenty majority the Massachusetts House of Representatives last week passed the Old-Age Pension bill, fathered by the Order of Eagles.

Then the big special interests rallied and secured a vote to reconsider. That vote will be taken tomorrow, Wednesday, April 4. In the meantime, by every means which they have so often proved to be effective, the Associated Industries and kindred interests are hard at work to defeat the law.

Will the members of the House stand fast? Will your members stand fast, Mr. or Madam Reader? Will you take the trouble to see that he stands fast? Are you interested in the law which gives a pension to people over sixty-five in order to keep them out of the poorhouse? Do you hope to be sixty-five some day? Are you sure that you will not need a pension then? Have you a wife or a father or mother dependent upon you? Are you sure of living until they die? And are you sure that their pensions will never be needed to help you support them?

England has an old-age pension. So has Denmark, New Zealand and Australia. None of these countries would think of abandoning it. Prime Minister Bonar Law, leader of the Conservative party; ex-Premiers Asquith and Lloyd George, leaders of the Liberal party; Phillip Snowden and Arthur Henderson of the Labor party in Great Britain, all unite in their praise of this humanitarian law. It lies in the line of civilized progress. Who will vote, in their puny attempt to halt the march of civilization, against this old-age pension bill?

A Cry Over "Wolf" Which Never Appears

Dr. Donald B. Armstrong is a member of the National Health Council. It is an important position. Its work means a great deal to the future of America.

Robert Amory is president of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, a big organization of an important branch of our American industry.

Both these gentlemen spoke on the same day on the same subject, one addressing the members of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, the other addressing the New England Investment Bankers' Association at the City Club.

Mr. Amory told the bankers that long-haired men and short-haired women were trying to improve social and economic conditions in this State by legislation, and that it would result in driving the cotton industry out of New England to the South. Mr. Amory had particularly in mind the laws prohibiting the working of women and children more than forty-eight hours a week, and the sympathy which the community usually has for the demand of the workingmen for higher wages in these highly protected industries, which get their protection on the plea that it is a protection for the workingmen against cheap European competition.

Dr. Armstrong, the same day, addressed the Chamber of Commerce on the subject of the wisdom of laws which raised the standard of living among our workmen at the cost of causing the industry to flow off down South. Dr. Armstrong contended that there was no danger of any legislation improving the conditions of labor in New England now in contemplation or suggested that would cause any industry which New England wants to be driven from New England into the South. He told us that the health of New England labor under the better conditions of labor in New England and our better climate for industrial work more than offset the profit of cheap labor in the South with its high rate of sickness.

He said that there was a 2 per cent. loss in New England industry on account of ill-health, while there was a 10 per cent. loss in the South. He said that there was a greater loss than the loss due to sickness. The Southern climate makes one slow down his pace; it is too hot to make the work snappy. Go into the South and see the difference between the movements of the men and women in the streets and contrast them with the movements of the men and women in our Northern streets. It is a difference of climate and inheritance, the divergence in activities caused originally by the climate being accentuated by inheritance as the years go on. He declared that the high priced, intelligent and skilled labor of New England was cheap labor compared with the malaria, hookworm and sun-ridden labor of the South.

We do not know how far Dr. Armstrong's theory can be carried, but we do know that Mr. Amory is wrong in assuming the long-haired men and the short-haired women have not improved conditions in Massachusetts and made Massachusetts a better State to live in by reason of the laws which they have caused to be enacted. We also know that we have heard this cry of "Wolf" about the Southern competition for a great many years, and the "Wolf" never comes.

The Tariff Did Not Do It

The Sugar Scandal Is Up to the Department of Commerce

Copyright, 1923, Star Company

President Harding orders a strict inquiry into the sugar scandal. He says that if it appears the tariff is in any way responsible for the raise in price he will lower the tariff. The President is anxious, as everyone knows, to break up the sugar swindle. The tariff, however, is not responsible, and does not add fifty or a hundred per cent. to the price of sugar.

The inquiry should begin in the Department of Commerce. For it is in the Department of Commerce, through its official announcement, that the scandal began. It was the official announcement that gave the sugar grafters their chance.

The President will want to know why nothing was done by the head of the Department of Commerce to prevent the announcement, or to act swiftly in the effort to prevent its evil consequences.

WOMAN HAS 640 ACRES AT 84

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 3.—Rigors of homesteading in Wyoming, which have discouraged many young folks, did not seem too much for Mrs. Rebecca Wood, eighty-four years old, who made final proof this week on her 640 acres of grazing land, near Buford. She took up the original piece of land—160 acres—in 1913 and made the additional entry in 1920.

Capital Punishment

Editor Boston American:

Capital punishment should be abolished. That we have not yet come to that stage to abolish it shows that we are not yet wholly civilized. There is an aversion to capital punishment that in itself shows that it is unnatural and unjust. Then why do we hesitate to abolish capital punishment? Is it that we are in fear?

Saving Children

Editor Boston American:

Can you not, before the vacation season officially opens, launch a campaign for the protection of little children? Much can be done through the medium of your columns and the schools. Children can be taught and drilled to co-operate with the operators of autos and trucks in exercising due care.

A week's campaign at this time, if properly launched and handled, will save countless heartaches in the months to come.

WORDS FROM THE LIPS OF WISE MEN

There is nothing insignificant —nothing.

The seeds of knowledge may be planted in solitude, but must be cultivated in public.

THE HELPING HAND

Do Not Inclose Stamps. Letters Will Not Be Answered Personally. No Attention Paid to Telephone Calls. No Names Are Published.

Extensive Outfit

Editor Helping Hand:

Please send me the address of the little girl who signs herself "Eleven," as I have five dresses, one coat, some underwear, three pairs of shoes, that I would like to give her.

M. L. F.

ED. NOTE—Many thanks. Her address will be sent you.

Hard Struggle

Editor Helping Hand:

I am the widowed mother of three children. We live in one room. We all suffer for clothes badly. Little Mary, two years old, has no coat, and needs dresses and shoes badly. The twins, not one year old, yet, need coats and odd things. I am pretty well cleaned out myself. The twins have been sick all Winter, and I wish I had a carriage to take them out in. My husband died four months before the twins were born, and it has been a hard struggle for me.

E. C.

Needs Dresses

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a girl eighteen years old, and I am asking if there is any kind reader who has some dresses, as I have none except the one I have on. I also need baby clothes, as my four-months-old baby hasn't enough. My husband is sick and cannot buy me any.

MRS. R. L.

Stroller Is Gone

Editor Helping Hand:

I would like to get the combination twin stroller offered in tonight's American by Mrs. M. S. My husband is handy and could fix it. I have just had twins, and as I have four other children and my husband is making small pay, I cannot afford to buy one. I would also like to get some small baby clothes, as I was prepared for only one.

MRS. M. A. K.

ED. NOTE—Sorry, but the twin carriage offered by Mrs. M. S. was given to another mother; but there may be others offered.

Asks for Addresses

Editor Helping Hand:

Please send me the address of C. L., who is expecting the stork. I have some things for her, and also for her husband. Also please send me the address of Barbara and of Mrs. G. E. C. I would greatly appreciate the addresses of these three, but wish I could do something for each and everyone.

You are doing a wonderful work and are deserving of many blessings. Most all of us have something we could spare. Why not all of us get busy and do what we can to help your good work along? I call attention to your work every day. I tell them the column reaches the real needy ones. The Lord bless you.

MRS. E. J. P.

ED. NOTE—The three addresses you ask will be sent you. We like to hear kind words like yours, but we are really not so deserving of thanks as the generous people who have been so ready to help. When you tell your friends of the Helping Hand, will you say that there are many appeals for which there is no room in the paper, and that if they will let us know what they have to offer, we will see that it gets to needy folks?

Has Four Children

Editor Helping Hand:

I am greatly in need of baby clothes. I am twenty-four, the mother of four children. My baby has only one dress and one pair of stockings, and I cannot get more, because my husband has been out of work and my children have been sick. Anything to make over would be greatly appreciated. I wonder if there is someone whose little girl has outgrown ribbons? My five-year-old likes pretty things.

J. P. H.

Girl Needs Shoes

Editor Helping Hand:

My name is Dot. I am the only girl in the family. There are five boys. My mother is finding it hard to pay the rent and clothe the children, so she would appreciate boys' clothing, sizes one, two, three, five and seven. I am ten years old, and would like to have some shoes. I take size 3½.

D. A.

Has Baby Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

Please send me the address of "C. L." I have some baby clothes for her. If anybody in the column wants some magazines, I can send them. I think the Helping Hand is wonderful, and it reaches deserving folks.

MRS. V. M. N.

ED. NOTE—C. L.'s address will be sent you, and your offer for magazines will be held for replies. Thank you.

Two Sets of Twins

Editor Helping Hand:

Mrs. M. S. offers a twin-stroller baby carriage. I am the mother of ten children, including two sets of twins under two years of age. One of the youngest sets of twins and one of the oldest set have whooping cough and need the fresh air badly. Baby clothes would also be acceptable. The children's ages are: twins, five months; twins, twenty-two months; girl, three; girl, eight; boy, nine, and twin boys, ten. All except the girl eight are large for their ages.

MRS. P. H.

ED. NOTE—Sorry, but the carriage has gone to someone else. There may be other offers.

Will Get Addresses

Editor Helping Hand:

I am very much interested in your column, and as I have quite a few things to give away I am asking you to send me G. K.'s address. I have a large list of clothes for her and her two little girls, as well as for her unborn little one. Please send me the address of Mrs. J. C. also, as I have some things she could make over. Please send me the address of Mrs. M. H., of C. L. and of Mrs. M. M. I have a couple of union suits for a little boy of seven or eight.

MRS. W. L. C.

ED. NOTE—All that will help a lot and we extend our thanks. The addresses will be sent you.

Wants a Blouse

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a girl sixteen years old and I have to take care of my mother, who is not very well. I have a sister that is sick in the hospital and another that helps some, but she is getting over the flu. If you have any clothes for mother, size 42 or 44, or a small bed, I would greatly appreciate it, as I don't earn enough to buy them. I would also like a middy blouse for myself.

ELIZABETH.

Things to Make Over

Editor Helping Hand:

Would you please send me Eileen's address? I have several things that could be made over for her.

MRS. S. J. C.

ED. NOTE—Thank you. Her address will be sent you.

THEY ALSO STRICTLY ISOLATED THE ROMANOFFS

By Herbert Kaufman

PRESS writers generally comment on the reserved manner and gentle voice of William Z. Foster, "regarded as the most dangerous Red agitator" in the United States.

Specialists in underground operations must be like that. Blatant, bellowing leaders are not chosen for political mining operations. All competent marplots learn early to walk and talk in gum shoes.

He's Evidently Sicker Than Reported

Archbishop Zepliak won't be executed. His sentence is commuted to ten years' imprisonment under strict isolation. The compromise is not acceptable to a civilization that remembers what happened to the strictly isolated Romanoff family.

Vicar-General Butchkavitch is not reprieved. Evidence that Lenin is even sicker than reported. Moscow is in a lunatic mood to believe that the world will accept such fatuous compromise.

Communist chiefs would do well to take the cure recommended last week for Baldy and his Piute renegades. Let them, too, study a panorama of the great nations beyond the Volga and realize what power they challenge when they affront enlightenment and profane religion!

Quite an unfortunate coincidence for the Soviet emissaries now on trial in this country.

Why Join in the First Place?

The chairman of the Indiana Republican State Committee resigns from the Ku Klux Klan. That isn't remarkable.

The extraordinary fact lies in his ever joining a society whose reputed oath and constitution "interfere with belief in our government as now constituted—in the equality of all men before the law—in the right to a trial by a jury of his peers, and the right to worship Almighty God in whatever way he may deem fit."

The Soviets, you'll remember, also object to the klan's ideals. The sentiment is reciprocal.

Mussolini's local Fascisti, protesting that their purposes have been misrepresented, are merely determined to protect democracy from Red-flaggers, night riders and Rome-determined enemies of liberty. "All the world's mad, excepting thee and me, and even thee is a little mad."

Both Sons of God

On Good Friday Julius Spanier, a New York fireman, is fatally injured. Father Metcalf bestows the last rites of the church.

At the hospital Father O'Connor, department chaplain, waits to give absolution. The dying man returns to consciousness; he repeats after the priest. Then interrupts, whispering, "I am a Hebrew." The prayer goes on.

A far cry from the days when bigotry reached for heretic souls with hot pincers. True faith is not intolerant—only its misguided servants. Peace begins to rule the Kingdom of God when gentile kneels beside Jew and cries forgiveness for his sins.

You Can't Win With a Thin Skin

Failure infects the wounds of vanity. Men who can't stand fire don't stand a show.

There can't be great winnings without bitter innings. Yours is a life of compromises if nobody has questioned your aims, doubted your sincerity or ridiculed your motives.

But duty doesn't debate with appearances. Words and works that most altered human destiny were the most misunderstood. Foresight invites backbite. Ignorance resents the shrewdness that opens its eyes.

Folk always struggle against the forces that hurt their purses or conceit. Do something different or better and you promptly provoke the enmity of groups whose affluence and influence are thereby threatened.

General approval includes the support of crooks and the approbation of hypocrites.

When selfish interests endorse party plans or popular legislation it is only because they sense opportunity for special license. When dunces applaud an idea, revise it.

Continuous popularity is an indictment of character. If you can't take hisses you won't make history. All paths of duty cross the mires of doubt. Courageous judgment faces many a lonely stretch of road.

Ambitions we now reverence were misinterpreted by and to the very generations for which they generously endured. We vilify, then glorify—that is our way.

Society pays its big debts, but always late. Socrates, Christ, Savonarola, Columbus, Jeanne D'Arc, Washington, Lincoln, alike met blame and shame before fame.
